SUNDAY EDITION

The WEEK

By A. M. BRAYTON

PRESIDENT and Mrs. Harding were booked for passage on the Island Queen. They did not make the journey. On the voyage the decks collapsed and twenty persons were injured. Government inspectors are quoted as saying the accident was "suspicious." The inference is that a trap had been set for the president party. However, this statement is discounted by the subsequent statement of government inspectors that they advised President Harding against making the trip on the Island Queen because of its condition. Here we have an inadvertent admission of lack of proper care of the vessel. What right had they to permit the operation of this boat? Is not a boat that is unsafe for the president, unsafe for others? Does our theory of government contemplate protection of one citizen that will not be afforded to all?

Lloyd George wants the allied supreme council to meet at Genoa and discuss reparations. Premier Poincaré of France has not consented. The charges understanding was that reparations would not be discussed at the Genoa conference. Lloyd George wanted to talk about them there. France consented to participate only upon the promise that they would not be discussed. Doubtless Premier Poincaré feels that were the allied council to discuss reparations at Genoa, Lloyd George might find a way to carry the discussion into the reconstruction conference.

Things are more or less at a standstill in the Genoa conference. A revised plan of getting down to business with Russia is under consideration. Some progress has been made toward an international agreement in regard to reconstruction for the next few years. Possibly this agreement may become the basis and substance of what is accomplished. Such an agreement may be important, however, Poland still lies between Russia and Germany. On a former occasion they divided Poland. The Russo-German treaty makes Poland neutral. Already Russia is growling at the Polish government. When big nations desire to carve up a little one it is easy to find a pretext. Therefore an agreement not to fight, which includes Russia and Germany, might be a safeguard. Or it might be "a scrap of paper."

During the week Attorney General Morgan, candidate for the republican nomination for governor, swung the "big stick" at two more alleged constitutionalists in restraint of trade. Mr. Morgan began suit against Johnson for alleged illegal practice. He thinks that if he wins it will be a big case. Mr. Morgan also filed an opinion to the effect that the state constitution is not a restraint of trade. The fellow Morgan is a thorn in the side of Governor John J. Blaine. No doubt he provokes Senator La Follette. Why can't he behave like a statesman?

Fighting continues in Ireland. Some disputes call it civil war. News coming from this country may be more or less correct. But the cables are reliable. The Protestants here all the better of it. Wednesday Dr. Valera and Griffith passed the Irish bill. That is inevitable, but it is not civil war. Indeed the very fact that these two men engage in debate in a public forum is the best evidence that no general civil war is in progress.

Conspicuous Ray C. Johnson, South Dakota, charges that upwards of $2,000,000 of government bonds have been deposited and sold to the public. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, denies this. But there was a row in the treasury department. President Harding summarily dismissed the head of the department and most of the personnel. No very substantial reason was given. This department engraves government bonds. Wm. J. Barnes, head of the secret service, has been using about the place. Representative Johnson is running for re-election in South Dakota. He says the truth will out and there will be a great national scandal. Perhaps Mr. Johnson needs a divorcing campaign before. If that is all there is to it, he is a clever politician. His story has a background calculated to intrigue the interest of the gossips.

Dr. Moses and Robert Johnson, adult students at the University, were recently married. They worked in a restaurant together to help pay the expenses of education. Doubtless they had many plans to get together and they finally decided that in the future nothing but the dinner table should be between them. They were expelled by the deans. They were appealed to the board of regents. It is said one or both of them secured leave of absence on the wedding day by misrepresentation. The objection is raised that Johnson lacks the means to support a wife, and that they do not live together. That is the offense was that they spent their work ends to each other. "Sexual conduct for a man and wife" one may exclaim. However, it is a real problem. Let us hope the practice of getting married in college might become general. (Continued on page six)

PLAN TO RESTORE RUSSIA IS OUTLINED

U. S. LEGATION IN PEKIN GIVEN A MARINE GUARD

Civil War in China Threatens Americans and Other Foreigners in the Country

CIVILIANS WITNESS FIGHTING WHICH APPROACHES THE CITY

American Bluejackets are on the Scene to Reinforce the Local Guards

PEKING. — (By the Associated Press.) — Civil war in China started Saturday with heavy cannonading in the neighborhood of Peking. The armies of General Chang Tso-Lin, military governor of Manchuria, and General Wu Pei-Fu, military leader of Central China, who are contending for the mastery of China's internal affairs, opened fire along a wide front.

As near as it is possible to estimate, the front extends from Manchuria, south of Tientsin, on the Peking-Hankow railroad, across the country westward to Peking, on the Peking-Hankow railroad, thence northward to Changchun. Twelve miles southwest of Peking.

The hostilities are said to have been due to an ultimatum from General Wu Pei-Fu giving Chang Tso-Lin twenty-four hours to evacuate Peking and withdraw his troops from Manchuria. The ultimatum was ignored.

Hostilities were opened at Manchuria with artillery. Almost simultaneously cannonading began at Changchun. Wu Pei-Fu, who controls the Peking-Hankow railroad, is transporting troops from the Yangtze with a view to turning Chang Tso-Lin's west wing, located at Chang Tso-Lin's forces from about Peking.

Headed at Peking

The fighting near Changchun centered around the river crossing known as the Marco Polo bridge. The king was awakened at dawn by the sound of cannonading, which continued throughout the day. Foreign residents who mounted the city walls could hear the firing distinctly. From the western hills outside the city, where many summer homes are located, the fighting at Changchun was witnessed by numerous civilians.

Most of the foreigners returned to the city on the advice of the legations. They were also advised to display their national flags, and this was done, particularly by the Americans. Some of the city gates were closed. The authorities warned that all the gates would be closed later in the day.

One hundred and fifty American bluejackets and marines have arrived to reinforce the legation. The total number of guards at all the legations is about 1,000.

Japan Guard Railroad

Advises from Tientsin and Shantung report that Japanese are reinforcing their guards along the shipping railway; these had recently been decreased in number as a result of the Washington conference. The American legation at Peking reports that two Chinese cruisers in sympathy with Wu Pei-Fu, have departed from Shantung and are proceeding toward Peking, near the great wall for the purpose of destroying the railroad to Mukden, thus cutting off the Chinese fleet's supplies.

The legation at Peking has notified the government that it is his purpose to support Wu Pei-Fu. He has said: "The reason China is divided is because of the Chinese. The Chinese are the cause of the trouble. We must exterminate them. This country belongs to the Chinese. This country belongs to the Chinese. This country belongs to the Chinese."

Many Good Society

Evidence of the feeling of the Chinese in the outlying districts was observed in Peking, during their visit to the city. All kinds of vehicles came in loaded with goods and accompanied by Chinese soldiers. They were carrying money and jewelry to the banks in the legation colonies.

SEVENTY-FIVE THOUSAND ARE HOMELESS IN FLOOD DISTRICT IN THE SOUTH

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Approximate 3500 square miles, equal to the combined area of the states of Delaware and Rhode Island, are inundated and probably 75,000 persons either are homeless or residing in flooded homes according to incomplete unofficial estimates based on reports from the flooded areas in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Working to Establish Tranquility so Marines Can Withdraw

WASHINGTON.—Another plea for immediate termination of the military occupation of Haiti met with a refusal today at the state department.

A committee of lawyers, who brought to the department a brief declaring the occupation to be out of harmony with American principles, were told plainly by Secretary Hughes that their arguments appeared to him "most inadequate and one-sided."

Headed by the department was fully advised from its own sources regarding all the elements of the situation and was working to re-establish tranquility so that American marines would be withdrawn as soon as things warrant.

The delegation, that called on the secretary represented the national popular government league and the foreign policy association, two organizations which are charging that the policy of the administration constitutes unwarranted interference in Haiti's domestic affairs. In reply to their representations, Secretary Hughes said:

"It is a pleasure to meet you personally and to give you this opportunity to make your statements with regard to the relations of the United States to Haiti."

RICHARD CROCKER DIES IN IRELAND

Former Tammany Chief Expires at Home Where He Lived Several Years

SETTLES FAMILY TROUBLES SHORT TIME BEFORE THE END

His Second Marriage to Cherokee Indian is Recalled

DUBLIN.—The death of Richard Crocker, former leader of Tammany hall in New York is announced by the Sunday Independent. He died at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his residence here after a brief illness. Crocker was for 27 years chief of Tammany hall and the strongest political boss New York city ever had. It was his second marriage in 1911 to a Cherokee Indian that brought to public notice his long family warfare.

Crocker's sons, following an unsuccessful attempt in 1920 to have their father declared incompetent to manage his own affairs, started a series of suits for the recovery of various sums alleged to have been advanced by them for certain railroad shares. In June, 1921, those suits came up in court, but they were never pressed. The Crockers had announced a settlement of their difficulties out of court.

Born in Ireland

Richard Crocker was born in Clonsilla, County Cork, Ireland, on Nov. 23, 1841.

At seven, his parents brought him to the United States. He was educated in New York public schools and later became a machinist.

In 1865 he became interested in politics and was elected alderman in 1868, 1870 and 1880. From 1873 to 1879 he was a New York congressman and from 1880 to 1890 he was city chamberlain.

During his administration of this office, Crocker became the pronounced opponent of the Tweed ring. After the most bitter political battle fought in America, Crocker was elected Tammany chief, over Tweed's opposition.

On his resignation 17 years later, Crocker returned to Ireland, still retaining his American citizenship, and was granted the freedom of Dublin in 1907.

Crocker's first wife was Miss Elizabeth Frazer, who he married in 1873. She died in 1911, after which he was wed to Miss Bessie Benton Edmondson, who was a "Cherokee" extraction. She had studied music in Boston and had become a teacher of music in New York, where Crocker met her.

That Crocker remained a fighter even when he reached an advanced age was indicated by his litigation with three of his children by his first wife over a property estimated to be worth more than $200,000. These suits followed his marriage of Miss Edmondson. They grew out of the settlement of the estate of the late Mrs. Crocker and out of the expenditures incurred by Richard Crocker, Jr., his eldest son, in managing his father's affairs in this country during the latter Crocker's periodical visits to Ireland.

High Was Bitter

Bitter accusations were made by both sides in the Crocker-McCoy case. The second wife taking side with him and defending him against the charges made by his children. The litigation finally culminated in a suit in Florida in which the children, Howard, Richard, Jr., and Bessie, now Mrs. John J. Brown, alleged that their father had become "incapacitated by age" and incompetent to handle his affairs and that the second Mrs. Crocker and her children had been guilty of undue influence.

For 26 days the white-haired, eighty-Two-year-old Tammany leader was in court undergoing a minute examination as to his mental state and competency. As a result the court dissolved an injunction which had restricted Mrs. Crocker from disposing of any of her husband's property and forbidding the banks to honor her checks. The court asserted that the manner and conduct of Mr. Crocker, Sr., on the witness stand "clearly suggested" a man in full control of his faculties. It held that a minute examination as to alleged "barbaric" delusions and "hallucinations" against his children and also decided that charges against Mrs. Crocker had not been sustained.

Accepted as Validated

The former Tammany leader accepted this as complete validation of both himself and wife, but the children announced that they would contest the case, and early in the summer of 1921, Mr. Crocker and his wife came again from Ireland to New York, where they were again before the courts. He was quoted as saying in an interview: "They say I am crazy because I won't give them all my money. My son-in-law (Continued on page six)

PROMISE CREDIT AND MATERIALS FOR REBUILDING

Great Britain, Belgium and Japan to Assist Country in a Financial Way

FRANCE TO PROVIDE RAILROAD MATERIAL—ITALY TRANSPORTS

Differences on War Debts May be Settled by the Jurists Soon

GENOA.—By The Associated Press. —The powers have prepared the outline of their league charter for Russia. It outlines how Europe will give financial and economic help to permit that great country's restoration and reconstruction.

Across the Atlantic, Japan promises to contribute her portion of money to assist in the reconstruction of Russia, and although the United States is not mentioned in the preamble it is wide enough in scope to take in the whole world, for its finances voted the convention that once confidence is felt that foreigners can successfully engage in enterprises in Russia the banks in all countries will willingly advance funds to their citizens to invest in Russia.

Credits Are Premised

Great Britain and Belgium, as well as Japan, to a lesser degree are promising credits at the disposal of enterprises in Russia; France will provide railroad material; Italy will help by inland water transports, and all will participate in an international consortium.

The sub-commission on Russian affairs has already adopted article one of the document, which is directed against propaganda by the bolsheviks or attempts to change the existing frontiers. This has chief reference to Bessarabia, now annexed by Rumania. An arrangement was also made on the momentous question of the nationalization of private property.

To Satisfy Soviets

Apparently some compromise on the project has been devised by the jurists, whereby the soviet are also to adhere to their great doctrine of nationalization and simultaneously satisfy the foreign governments and peoples by granting the use of the property, instead of admitting actual ownership. The text of this article has been kept secret, but it will come up again Monday for consideration.

Differences Developed Between England and France on the Question of Russia's War Debts

France insists that Russia recognize them in their entirety, though ready to settle them down later. The question was left to a committee.

On the question of war debts, England proposed that the percentage whereby the war debts were to be repaid should be decided by the supreme court of the United States. During the discussion M. Barthou said France was willing to grant facilities for payment, such as a moratorium and was even ready to consent to reductions at a later date, provided France demanded no acknowledgment by the soviet of the war debt.

When his attention was called to the fact that reductions had appeared in the soviet note of April 19, 1918, he said: "M. Barthou recognized that the soviet had substantially changed its position and therefore the powers had the same right. M. Barthou was ready to favor many different concessions, but wished to call attention to the fact that the government could only recommend, while parliament must decide."

Mr. Lloyd George made reference to the debt owed Great Britain. He said it had been understood that the Russian debt would be reduced, and the powers must stick to this. He then suggested submitting the question to the jurists. M. Caillaux, the Belgian expert, will sit unofficially with the jurists of the four great powers.

TAKE NEWSPAPER PAY

EXHAUST OF AUTO KILLS LIVESTOCK

DEN MOINES, Iowa.—Benjamin Fezler, farmer, opened his barn door Saturday morning to find two horses, a cow, a calf and nearly 400 chickens lying dead.

Investigation disclosed they had been asphyxiated by gas from the exhaust pipe of Fezler's automobile, the engine of which had been left running all night.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT TO STRICTLY ENFORCE GARBAGE REGULATION

Receptacles Used Must be Made to Comply With City Ordinance

TO START COLLECTION OF GARBAGE HERE ON MAY 1

Health Officer Issues List of "Don'ts" for Citizens

STRICT enforcement of provisions of the ordinance regarding garbage receptacles is the keynote of a campaign collection regulations as stipulated by the city health department in a statement made on Saturday.

The city wagons, it was stated, will start the collection of garbage on May 1 and a more effective campaign on the part of citizens in furnishing proper garbage cans will be enforced during the coming year. The garbage cans as prescribed by ordinance on either side, tight fitting cover and out of a capacity exceeding twenty gallons.

Garbage collectors have been instructed not to collect garbage placed in barrels, wooden boxes or other containers not in compliance with the city ordinance.

List of "Don'ts"

The following list of "don'ts" has been prescribed by A. M. Murphy, city health officer, as an aid in the work:

Don't forget to wash our cans occasionally.

Don't neglect to phone department if collection fails to make regular stops.

Don't keep garbage can back on lot if it is not an alley, as this causes considerable delay in the collection.

Don't forget that a leaky can is unsanitary and inconvenient to handle.

Don't put broken glass, tin cans, miscellaneous waste or cuspidor cleanings in cans. Garbage is table waste only.

Don't keep on back porch where there is an alley. The ordinance provides that the garbage can must be placed in the alley.

Don't fail to arrange cans so that they may not be tipped over easily by dogs.

Don't quarrel with the collectors. Report all trouble to the department.

Complaints are expected during the first of the year as there are now men on the job who may not be acquainted with an alley. Co-operation is requested from all citizens.

(Signed) A. M. MURPHY.

AUTOPSY ORDERED OF THE STOMACH OF GERTIE HANNA

Affairs are Not Looking So Bad for Wyman, Former Sweetheart, it is Said

DANVILLE, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—State's Attorney John H. Lewman tonight ordered an autopsy of the stomach of Gertrude Hanna, found dead in a Thompson car, Tuesday, in an effort to determine the means by which the girl met her death.

At the same time Sheriff Knox ascertained that matters had begun to clear somewhat for John C. Wyman, Hanna's former sweetheart, who was subjected to a severe 36-hour grilling by the authorities at Danville.

"Wyman made things appear badly for him by his outlandish lies," the sheriff said. "But we have checked up on his alibi and are convinced that he at least told a partial truth when he said he was in Danville for several days immediately preceding and following the girl's disappearance on March 21."

The confessed father of Miss Hanna's unborn child, Wyman, the authorities believe, can shed considerable light on the case.

INSPIRATION FOR DEMOCRATS

WASHINGTON.—Former President Wilson declared in a letter read Saturday night at a dinner tendered to Chairman Carlisle of the democratic national committee, by women members of the committee that "this is undoubtedly a critical turning point in the affairs of mankind and it clearly falls to the democrats of the United States to lead the way to the light."

LA FOLLETTE STARTS PROBE OF OIL LEASES

Government Concession Granted Sinclair Company in Wyoming to be Investigated

ALSO TWO IN CALIFORNIA WITH THE VOTE UNANIMOUS

Secretary Denby Says the Navy Department Will Welcome the Investigation

WASHINGTON.—Attacks upon the government lease of Wyoming naval oil reserve to the Sinclair interests Saturday culminated in the senate ordering an investigation.

Under a resolution presented by Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, and adopted, 58 to 0, all private leases in the two California naval oil reserves as well as the Salt Creek or Teapot Dome district, to the Sinclair interests also are to be investigated. "The inquiry promises to cover acts of the last administration and furnish another spectacular conservation controversy."

Secretary Denby said so far as the navy department was concerned the investigation was welcomed. Secretary Fall is out of the city.

Tariff Bill Laid Aside

To put through the La Follette resolution, the senator laid aside the tariff bill by unanimous consent. The resolution was adopted with brief debate, but for more than two hours afterward discussion, with a partisan tinge, ensued. During this, Secretaries Fall and Denby were attacked and defended for having made the Sinclair lease.

For to action on the La Follette resolution, the interior department sent to the senate a copy of the Wyoming reserve lease made April 7 to the Mammoth Oil company, a Delaware corporation, of which Harry La Follette is president, giving the corporation exclusive development rights for twenty years or during productivity of the wells on a royalty basis ranging from 12 1/2 to 20 percent.

The lease was signed by Secretaries Fall and Denby and Mr. Sinclair. It gives the Sinclair interests the privilege of buying all oil and gas developed in the leased district, of over 5,000 acres requires them to exchange and deliver oil to the navy, requires them to provide permanent storage and also to construct pipe line facilities to Chicago.

ASTORS ARE GUESTS OF WOMEN VOTERS AT LEAGUE HOME

WASHINGTON.—Rounding out a day replete with thrills and a plenty as they described their experiences, Lord and Lady Saturday night were guests of honor at a reception given by the National League of Women Voters at its new headquarters here.

Both made brief addresses, thanking the hostesses for the complimentary bestowed upon them.

Lady Astor and her husband called at the white house shortly before noon and were introduced to President and Mrs. Harding by Senator Hale, Maine, after which they were driven to the capital. By virtue of their membership in the British parliament they were received on the floor of the senate where an impromptu reception was held.

WOMEN STUDENTS OUSTED BECAUSE OF SOCIAL LIFE

YPSILANTI, Mich.—Action of Charles McKenny, president of the Michigan State Normal school in dismissing 17 young women students recently, was upheld by the state board of education, meeting here Saturday forenoon.

The board's action following presentation by President McKenny of an extensive report covering the dismissals, and resolution approving his course adopted by various civic bodies and the student council. President McKenny's report emphasized that the young women's style of dress had nothing to do with the dismissals, but declared their social life was such as to convince the school that they would not make good teachers.

QUAINT CUSTOM OF MAY DAY REVIVED IN CHRIST CHURCH

Luncheon to be Given at Noon in the Church at Ninth and Main Monday

The first day of May is the day on which the opening of the season of flowers and fruits was formerly celebrated throughout Europe. It is still marked in some places by various festive observances. The chief features of the celebration in Great Britain are the gathering of Hawthorn blossoms and other flowers, the crowning of the May-queen, dancing around the May pole.

Many common superstitions still prevail in Great Britain in regard to May day.

One of the most common superstitions is the one in regard to the dew on May day. The natives believe that it does not alone have great whitening properties for the face but that the dew contains other remarkable and mystic powers such as making one beautiful and keeping them beautiful and so even today in Great Britain many people get up early on May Day and go into the fields to bathe their faces in the May dew.

Another very lovely old custom on May Day was the May Garland—a wreath of flowers formerly borne from house to house by children on May Day—two in every group carried between them and suspended from a stick the May Garland from two small transverse willow hoops decorated with a profusion of trim roses and other flowers.

In our own southern states many quaint customs and superstitions cling around May Day. One that still survives is the leaving of May baskets early in the morning at the doors of friends.

Before the war The Woman's Guild of Christ Church made merry on this old festival day but in many pleasant things were given up by various organizations in those trying days for food, cross, fuel, conservation and other patriotic work the Guild gave up their May Day celebration.

So society has been looking for-

HUMAN HEART'S BIG JOB

There is some difference in the number of heart beats in different individuals, but supposing the case of a heart that beats seventy-five times a minute, expelling ten cubic inches of blood at each "stroke," it is apparent that the little pump delivers forty-five cubic inches in one hour, over a million cubic inches in a day, or about 7,000 tons of vital fluid in a twelve-month. In figuring this out, a scientific writer recently called attention to the fact that a human heart has four compartments—two auricles and two ventricles. The auricles are merely reservoirs. The energy developed by the pump is furnished by the right and left ventricles—the right one sending impure blood to the lungs and the left one forcing the pure blood into circulation. The left ventricle alone uses in a day enough energy to raise one ton ninety feet.

FRENCHMAN'S DISCOVERY IS HERALDED AS BETTER MEANS OF "MAKING THE

AS EVER, chemistry and surgery are head and head—just when cosmetic surgery is at its height, comes Prof. DeVillers, noted French chemist, with a plastic formula which "takes up" the sagging lines of the face, giving peach bloom complexion, certainly and peacefully in the privacy of the home. This wonderful compound he calls PLEX.

NOTE THE STORY YOUR MIRROR TELLS

Here is a simple way to prove what PLEX will do for you. Stand before your mirror—place your hands in an upright position with thumbs on the ears—cover your face with your hands, so little fingers lay on your nose. Now mildly draw the skin by pulling your hands toward the ears until your thumbs touch at back of the head. Hold there. Study your face. What's the result? You look several years younger—don't you? PLEX will do the same thing your hands did, which proves Prof. DeVillers' principle is right. PLEX pulls the tired skin of your face back to place and by its powerful astringent properties, holds it there. It is easy to apply—certain in its work and harmless as the morning dew. Some women's faces age prematurely and they must go through life with the curse of wrinkles. Start today to "make your face over." PLEX will help you and quickly too. By its use any one may look much younger than their age. In a few days your friends will delight you with expressions of "how much better you look," etc. It may be used in secret if you so desire. Your most intimate friends may never know. Remember that the skin is the foundation of beauty. Your face is the touchstone of your charm, so let it be your first consideration.

HOW PLEX MAKES YOUR FACE OVER

You make a creamy mixture from a gray powder which you plaster all over your face—read on again for further details. PLEX is a dry, white, dust-like powder, made of the finest materials, and you can feel each pore made with new life—feel it pull the tired skin back to place. Its action is gentle, yet positive. It purges the skin, restores the pores of the face, which are clogged from a time. You wash it off with a soft towel and it is then it reveals its worth—hardly believable. In a short time every blackhead, pimple, spot, and every mark of dirt comes off with it—blackheads are diminished and your face will glow with youth of healthy childhood—in soft and velvety. When removed, everything comes with it but the skin—just natural, healthy skin is left—every pore covered of foreign matter. This action allows the pores to close naturally. You must not expect results by any other way. While it is powerful and certain in its work, it is painless, sure, beneficial, and is pure as the breath of spring, and is beneficial to the complexion. Modern custom approves and endorses the use of harmless beauty products. PLEX is a beauty product. There is nothing else like PLEX. So don't compare PLEX with face powders, hair growing creams, salves, plasters, massage, nostrums, lotions, or cosmetics of any kind. It is a different and that "different" is why it does its work so successfully. Now, my friend, let's all sense. PLEX will not take the years out of your face. IT WILL keep the age from showing in your face.

WHY PLEX WORKS WONDERS NATURALLY

By covering the face with PLEX, you keep the air away from the pores. This action brings the blood to the surface and opens the pores as well. PLEX also will. PLEX contains a vegetable oil that goes to the bottom of the pores and dissolves any foreign matter that they may contain. The other ingredient stimulates the circulation, restores the skin to its normal glow, leaving the skin smooth, clear, pink and healthy. Take all great discoveries, in secret, in its simplicity. PLEX is a beautiful beauty product for that matter. The secret is in its simplicity. PLEX is a beautiful beauty product for that matter. The secret is in its simplicity. PLEX is a beautiful beauty product for that matter. The secret is in its simplicity.

PLEX CANNOT, WILL NOT, FAIL

If directions are followed, PLEX will make dry or oily skins normal, take out blackheads, diminish wrinkles absolutely, will refresh your face and take the black from under tired eyes, blotches red nose, freckles, spots, blemishes, fading skin, faded cheeks, strengthen sagging eyelids, restore healthy skin, banish double chin, gives beautiful color to pale complexion, a radiant, healthy glow. Stop following the old methods. Buy PLEX and see how much better you look after the very first application. Ladies who have been looking for a way to look better, look younger, look lovelier, look more like the young girls of today, look lovelier, look younger, look lovelier, look more like the young girls of today, look lovelier, look younger, look lovelier, look more like the young girls of today.

NO OCCASION TO BE DOUBTFUL

We want you to believe our printed word the same as if we talked to you face to face. We are honest, sober, serious, and our selections in our statements. We have seen wonderful results produced by PLEX—some almost unbelievable—and by these facts, our claims are substantiated. Remember the PLEX standard of purity, the PLEX guarantee and the PLEX formula book of each container marked "Start its use today—look better tomorrow."

WE CANNOT FURNISH SAMPLES

Because we are running the factory plant and day to day to our orders, which run into the thousands, PLEX is a sample of all that would necessitate extra machinery, extra help, etc. The extra cost of the sample would necessarily be charged to the purchaser of PLEX. PLEX is compounded from the finest materials, by the highest chemists, and sold for $2.50 a container before Thomas A. DeVillers' invention made it possible to cheapen the cost of production and still maintain a high standard of quality, which places it within the reach of the average purse. Most women have wished a lifetime for just such a compound as Prof. DeVillers has made possible. It sells for $2.50 a container. Not expensive when you consider the work it does. PLEX will do your face more good in thirty minutes than all the creams, skin foods and lotions have in a lifetime. You will be delighted with it.

OF COURSE PLEX IS GUARANTEED

If after the first application, according to directions, PLEX does not produce results that you can feel and see, return the unused portion and we will give you your money back. PLEX has plenty of friends, both tried, certain and sure, that's why we can hardly keep up with our orders. This guarantee makes the way easy for you—because you are taking no chances. age is so strongly and diversely affected by the often vital personal interests and conditions of the contracting parties that, granted its legality, attempts to make it conform to unelastic regulations would be futile. Therefore it would seem obligatory upon authority to consider the merits of separate cases with considerable care, especially as in such cases the university is assuming to pass upon an important human right, perhaps even a duty, which in itself is fully sanctioned by law.

The Moses-Johnnot incident, therefore, appears to be one that should be adjudicated upon the evidence. At least in part these students were working their way through the university. To secure an education is a laudable ambition and one which educational authorities should be the last to discourage excepting upon serious grounds. The pair seem to have had some unity of interest comparable with those of matrimony. They allege that complete pooling of their resources for the moment would have resulted in loss which they could not afford, but that partial pooling of their resources was advantageous to them. They assumed that had they married openly, they would have been expelled, and that by marrying secretly they could avoid expulsion at least until their secret was discovered. Taking due account of all the arguments, one comes with difficulty to the conclusion that a legal and natural act can justify educational authority in refusing education to adults at least in part dependent upon their own efforts for the resources necessary to educate them. Were this the only case of the kind, there could be but one conclusion, but of course it is not a specific case, but a general and continual problem with which the university deals. The question therefore is whether this is an exceptional case. If the evidence shall show that the bride and groom have not deviated from the truth, and if their offense is confined to marrying and to marriage relationships, the records may find a means of rebuke short of closing the doors of the university upon citizens who so value education that they are willing to work long hours to attain it.

CHURCH NEWS

Published by the Church News Association

The controversies between Fundamentals and Liberals do not abate in ministers' Monday meetings, and are up for heated times in many May conventions. No wrong inferences are to be drawn, however, from a news story that reports the situation among Congregationalists to be unlike that obtaining in most bodies. For example, among Baptists, Presbyterians, Disciples and others, the old lines complain of the fads and theories of the Liberals. Congregationalists say that among them there is trouble from Fundamentals. This trouble arises in the Rocky Mountain region and on the coast. In some large churches of Denver, Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles there is little difficulty, but throughout New England, New York, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois trouble has not arisen, but in the small churches of the Rocky Mountain region and west of it old line orthodoxy that insists upon inspiration of every word in the Bible is so rampant that years are expressed of a split in the denomination. Curiously, a Presbyterian is leading in the coast Fundamental agitation, and Congregationalists are following him. He is the Rev. Dr. Mark A. Matthews of Seattle, some time moderator and long pastor of America's largest Presbyterian church.

Twenty-seven missionary societies now unite for the publication of literature, and in the holding of several summer conferences, which have now come to a total attendance of about 2,000 delegates. The greatest of these summer meetings is that at Lake George, which is this year to celebrate its twentieth anniversary. This summer meeting dates from 1902, and it created an organization that later developed into the Missionary Education Movement. This movement reports to date the sale of more than 2,000,000 books for the study and promotion of missions. A new feature of these summer meetings is a certificate of training in missionary education. Still examinations are given, and one hundred points must be obtained. A program based on sound educational lines has been worked out under the supervision of Dr. T. D. P. Sailer, long identified with one of the Presbyterian boards.

This is to be a big summer for education, including religious education. The American Legion and the National Education Association meet in Boston. The Association's date being July 1, and it is expected that 5,000 teachers will be there. General Pershing, Vice President Coolidge, Secretary Hughes, and if possible, President Harding, are to speak. So important is the meeting that many university summer schools will postpone dates of opening to permit teachers to attend the Boston meeting. All principal universities have pledged co-operation. Drew Seminary, for the training of Methodist ministers, is out for increased endowment of $5,000,000, of which sum $2,000,000 is to be collected this summer if possible. The University of the South, at Sevenson, under Episcopal charge, is out to complete an increased endowment of $1,000,000 by July 1. The church in the south has pledged $800,000. The General Education Board $500,000, and enough more is now sought to complete endowment named and wipe out a debt of $250,000.

Another American Jewish congress, this one to be on a permanent basis, has been called to meet in Philadelphia on May 21, to devise means to protect the rights and further the aims for Jewish re-establishment of Palestine. Jews say that Islam and the Catholic church are combining to make establishment there difficult; impossible perhaps unless American Jews assist with money and moral backing. Nathan Strauss is chairman of the new congress committee. Delegates are being chosen throughout the country, some of them at large for all national and central organizations and fraternal orders. The representative of the British Abrahams, the largest of Jewish orders, is Judge Aaron J. Levy.

A Philadelphia firm of architects has just been selected to plan a group of buildings costing $1,500,000 for Concordia Seminary in St. Louis. The Missouri Synod of Lutherans, which is national and not just Missouri, as its name might imply, has purchased a tract of seventy-one acres opposite the Forest Park section of the city. The new buildings are to be ready for the fall of 1924. On April 27 the Missouri Synod celebrated its diamond jubilee. In 1849 it received three pastors and a dozen laymen and in 1924 it received a new group of 20,000. It organized the Synod of Missouri, Ohio and other states, and in these years since the Lutherans have held to their conservative doctrines, and most of the time to the German language. The growth of the synod has been phenomenal, 1,000,000 members, and 2,500 pastors and congregations.

From the Paris View Point

(BY FRANK H. SIMONDS)

WASHINGTON.—Since coming from Paris I have been asked again and again for some comprehensive statement of conditions as they appear at the present moment from the Paris viewpoint. In complying with this request here I find myself at once confronted by two wholly different sets of circumstances, by the almost desperate political conditions concerning which I did not in six weeks in the French capital hear a single hopeful word, and the equally unmistakable improvement in the minor details in the things which are not within the care of the statesmen but are the private concern of men and women.

Politically, and generally, there is no mistaking the present situation in Europe. You have only to pass through London or Paris to feel that not only has the disintegration been tremendous in the three years which separate Versailles from Genoa, but that at the present moment the disintegrative processes are working more rapidly than at any time before since the close of the war.

Dominating everything else in the European problem is the mutual distrust which today divides almost all peoples in fact one can only make exceptions by degrees. And hardly second to this phenomenon of international distrust is that of national suspicion. It is not merely that nations are divided by ancient grudges and rivalries, brought to new vitality by contemporary events, but inside the political chambers of the parliaments of all European countries and perhaps most conspicuously in Britain, France and Germany, the three most important nations, the business of government is conducted in the atmosphere of a Kentucky blood feud.

Americans, with memories of the Washington conference still in mind, having something of the same possible faith and approximately the same purposes—that is, they have thought of it as a peace conference in the larger sense. But you have only to linger in Europe for a few brief days and talk with but a few of the well informed to perceive how incorrect is any such analogy. At Washington three great naval powers and four great Pacific powers met to accomplish things which all desired. We were separated from each other neither by past rivalries nor by present grievances. That most genuine understanding, that between Japan and ourselves was largely imaginary; it disappeared in the evidence of good faith on both sides.

France and Britain at Odds
But in Europe there is no such thing as recognized good faith. If you hear the average Englishman speak of France or the average French man speak of England, the things said can hardly fail to come as a shock. To the Briton France is an aggressive and militaristic nation, blocking the road to all European progress by her excessive demands upon Germany. And this objection explains to the Englishman his present plight. The most desperate in all British history, the Briton is having spoiled the victory, selfishly taking all the profits which could be quickly required and then joined with the German in preventing France from obtaining the simplest and most reasonable of her demands, namely reparations and security. You cannot exaggerate the enormous mistrust and worse which today separate Englishman and Frenchman. It is the outstanding fact of much international conference; it was an impressive circumstance in our own little conference, far from European soil.

When an Englishman and a Frenchman meet in an international conference the Frenchman expects to be cheated, he regards the Englishman as an enemy endeavoring to deceive him of things which mean life and death. Moreover, so general has the French distrust become that again and again with almost monotonous regularity, French prime ministers who have agreed to treaties or conventions with Lloyd George have been forthwith thrust out of power by the French chamber and the universal expression of approval in the country at large. Clemenceau, Leygues, Briand, all have fallen on this account and already Poincaré's days are numbered.

Gulf Between
In private business, in the affairs which call for partnership, it is an obvious truth that the foundation of co-operation is confidence. But at the moment when confidence is of utmost importance and co-operation is being insisted upon by France and Germany, the mutual distrust in the two countries baffles credulity. You cannot visit London and Paris without feeling that between the two countries recently allied there is a gulf almost as wide as between France and Germany.

Again, in precisely the same fashion, you are brought to feel that on every really important issue, a total difference of interest leads to an utterly different point of view. British policy has adopted the policy of restoring Germany at any and all costs to France, because it is essential to British prosperity; France stands solidly against German reconstruction, for which shall be at the expense of French reparations or French security. Now you cannot guarantee that if Germany is restored economically, she will not be dangerous militarily, so there the situation is.

Mention the difference between France and Britain has given the Englishman exactly the position he has longed for. His mood of dejection at the moment when confidence is of utmost importance and co-operation is being insisted upon by France and Germany, the mutual distrust in the two countries baffles credulity. You cannot visit London and Paris without feeling that between the two countries recently allied there is a gulf almost as wide as between France and Germany.

See New Storm on Horizon
But this recombination of German passion has its immediate effect in France. The French people with their memory of their dead still fresh, see day by day gathering in the east a new storm, a storm which threatens fresh invasion and further ruin. They feel, rightly or wrongly it does not matter, that Britain and even the United States, led by pocket interests, are encouraging Germany and giving new hope to German plans for a repetition of the events of 1914.

And back of Germany lies Russia. A union between Russia and Germany would mean, not perhaps today but in a very early tomorrow, the complete mastery of the Continent. Europe such a condition all the little states of middle Europe would collapse like a house of cards. Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, these would be powerless to resist a Russo-German coalition, with which would be associated Hungary and Bulgaria, whose resentment over the conditions created at the Paris conference is quite as keen as Germany's.

All the desperate efforts of French statesmanship, and of British and certain times, were directed at replacing the Bolshevik regime by a national government which might be anti-German, as the Bolshevik regime was frankly anti-French and in earlier days anti-British, and anti-Japanese. The attempts have failed and the British have abandoned the policy. They are prepared to recognize the Bolsheviks, but recognition of the Bolsheviks does not in the least eliminate the Red peril of France.

Coalition Natural
For three years events have marched toward a Russo-German coalition such as last saw daylight at Genoa. It is as natural a combination as the union of France and Persia. Continental domination a generation ago. Ask yourself this question: What great powers must be able to overthrow the settlement made at Paris? And you must perceive that they are Russia and Germany. For both of them the Europe of the moment is equally intolerable.

And to oppose such a coalition, now become a fact, what coalition is possible? None. If Britain and France are separated, none for the future. Today, at the moment of the conference, Polish and the troops of the Little Entente states can go where they will in Europe. There is nothing to stand in their way. Britain has no army; Italy is a wholly negligible element in the military sense; Germany lacks the material and would-be supplied by French divisions.

What, must decide the policy of the future is whether she has moved to Europe by using the force now in her hands, at the sacrifice of world opinion, or by sitting stolidly by, while the irrepressible and permanently hostile forces are slowly revealing the purpose to destroy the settlement made at Versailles. More and more, too, Frenchmen are coming to believe that an immediate action there is the lesser evil.

The trouble with all that has happened in Genoa is that it makes for greater distrust. You can take over an incident at the conference, as Lloyd George did over the publication of the terms and fact of the Russo-German alliance, but you cannot disregard the millions of Frenchmen and Poles, the all important fact that such an association carries with it the possibility of the end of the world.

The fact is, in the end, the world is the little subterfuge by which Lloyd George kept his conference in being. Situation Hopeless
I do not believe any American familiar with Europe before 1914 and since 1919, could have the slightest difficulty in discovering that a new spirit was in the world and that it was not the spirit of peace which might be made and guaranteed if not forever for many decades, peace and co-operation, and confidence, Europe politically is thinking only in terms of new wars and new adjustments after victory. Not less than a quarter of a billion of inhabitants of Europe can see the Versailles treaty as an irreparable evil and are prepared to abolish it by violence. By contrast, rather more than half as many people must defend that settlement of their national existence disappear.

Politically, then, what you have in Europe is not in any sense reconstruction. On the contrary there is just one state in Europe which is able to think in terms of economic reconstruction without giving first concern to political—and that is Great Britain. But given the international situation, Britain alone cannot start economic reconstruction, on the contrary she can do no more than preserve a momentary balance by amassing first one group and then another. But all this does not produce peace in Europe or abolish unemployment in the British Isles.

Armies Not the Cause
The widespread American notion that European ill can be cured by the reduction of armaments is hopelessly over-simplified, because the armies are not a cause but a detail. The presence of armies reveals the existence of distrust, hatred, fear, but the armies are not in any sense a cause, and to get rid of the armies, you must get rid of the present and prospective struggle to preserve and to modify the European settlement of 1919.

If you do not abolish the hatred and fear, you cannot reduce the armies, this is axiomatic. But how can you abolish these things? Suppose that the Genoa conference adjourned in hope or confidence, who saw any sign of co-operation, of agreement, of even a temporary laying aside of jealousies? German relations were concerned; rivalries and hatreds. And I saw no

Would it give France any new sense of security? No, the fact that Russia and Germany had made an arrangement would remain for France the single significant fact of Genoa and French apprehension would be increased, not diminished.

There has not been a single European gathering since the Armistice which has actually contributed toward apprehension, because at no gathering has there been any real confidence, any common agreement, such has been a battleground, frankly, between national interests and national policies—and in each new political episode, like the publication of the Russo-German alliance, mistake, the failure surprised no one, save perhaps in the United States, but it did demonstrate once more how impossible in the present temper of European people is any real reconstruction.

Division Follows Conference
When the Paris conference was in session, but a few so-called Liberals in the world protested against the exclusion of Germany, the isolation of Germany, their protests have been rebuffed with every succeeding international gathering. But today, when a similar isolation of France is taking place these voices are silent, although the danger to the cause of European peace is just as great. All a division makes for trouble and all international conference so far have made for division.

Coming back to this country after having discussed the European situation with men of many countries, with the statesmen and journalists of most of the larger countries, one feels the determined and aggressive optimism which is so striking an American characteristic makes it well nigh impossible for Americans to appreciate the fact that Europe is steadily integrating, that political and economic reconstruction more and more impossible.

Co-operation Only Hope
Europeans, on the contrary, while perceiving quite as clearly as Americans that survival can only come through co-operation, can find no possible way by which nations can be brought to conference and persuaded to work together. They realize what must be done, quite as plainly as Americans, but unlike Americans, they perceive the almost insurmountable obstacles which history, both recent and remote, has constructed. They recognize that without exception, nations go to conference not to co-operate, but to contest for advantage, to win battles, useful in domestic politics or in international politics, which may cripple their rivals and prepare the way for even more successful struggles in the future. Above all they perceive that the war is not over and so far no method has been found by which it can be terminated.

I do not know of any way to make this fundamental fact in the European situation, difficult to disclose by using the force now in her hands, at the sacrifice of world opinion, or by sitting stolidly by, while the irrepressible and permanently hostile forces are slowly revealing the purpose to destroy the settlement made at Versailles. More and more, too, Frenchmen are coming to believe that an immediate action there is the lesser evil.

The trouble with all that has happened in Genoa is that it makes for greater distrust. You can take over an incident at the conference, as Lloyd George did over the publication of the terms and fact of the Russo-German alliance, but you cannot disregard the millions of Frenchmen and Poles, the all important fact that such an association carries with it the possibility of the end of the world.

The fact is, in the end, the world is the little subterfuge by which Lloyd George kept his conference in being. Situation Hopeless
I do not believe any American familiar with Europe before 1914 and since 1919, could have the slightest difficulty in discovering that a new spirit was in the world and that it was not the spirit of peace which might be made and guaranteed if not forever for many decades, peace and co-operation, and confidence, Europe politically is thinking only in terms of new wars and new adjustments after victory. Not less than a quarter of a billion of inhabitants of Europe can see the Versailles treaty as an irreparable evil and are prepared to abolish it by violence. By contrast, rather more than half as many people must defend that settlement of their national existence disappear.

Politically, then, what you have in Europe is not in any sense reconstruction. On the contrary there is just one state in Europe which is able to think in terms of economic reconstruction without giving first concern to political—and that is Great Britain. But given the international situation, Britain alone cannot start economic reconstruction, on the contrary she can do no more than preserve a momentary balance by amassing first one group and then another. But all this does not produce peace in Europe or abolish unemployment in the British Isles.

Armies Not the Cause
The widespread American notion that European ill can be cured by the reduction of armaments is hopelessly over-simplified, because the armies are not a cause but a detail. The presence of armies reveals the existence of distrust, hatred, fear, but the armies are not in any sense a cause, and to get rid of the armies, you must get rid of the present and prospective struggle to preserve and to modify the European settlement of 1919.

representatives of many nations. The dominating note was one of mingled helplessness and hopelessness, of depression beyond exaggeration. Every statesman had one eye fixed on never absent danger coming from the opposition in his own parliament.

To succeed, Genoa had to contribute something to allaying the passions, reducing the hatreds, eliminating the fears—and in the opening days there emerged an alliance which gives confirmation to all the worst of French and Polish apprehensions, desecrating the illusion of a united Europe and stimulates all the centrifugal forces. After this moment the real failure of Genoa could not be mistaken. The failure surprised no one, save perhaps in the United States, but it did demonstrate once more how impossible in the present temper of European people is any real reconstruction.

With Genoa we enter frankly and openly into a new phase of European history which has long been preparing. We face a new combination of states and interests. The Russo-German alliance is an open, an unmistakable challenge to the Europe which exists. The challenge must be accepted by France and in reality has been, already, but the issue and the acceptance of the challenge are equally fatal to the conception of Pan-European co-operation which underlay all else in the Genoa experiment. AN APPEAL

The committee for Near East Relief in the La Crosse city and county appeals to all generous-hearted citizens to help meet the desperate situation existing among the orphaned children of that famine stricken and war ravaged region.

The latest cablegram received from the Near East states the situation as follows: "As a result of the famine of the last few months, tens of thousands of the Armenian farmers have perished from starvation and thousands of their orphaned children are begging for admission to the already overcrowded orphanages of the Near East Relief. Health conditions are critical. One fourth of the adults are bedridden. Only one in fifty is normal. Thousands are dying daily."

The Near East Relief organization, incorporated by act of Congress, on the recommendation of President Wilson, and authorized to collect and administer the charitable gifts of the American people, is today caring for more than one hundred thousand children and cannot begin to meet the situation created by the terrible famine which has recently carried thousands to their graves. So desperate has become the situation in some sections that it has become necessary to place guards over the graves of newly buried bodies to protect them from the insane hunger of those dying from starvation.

The National Near East Relief committee, of which Mr. James A. Barton is chairman, and the Wisconsin State Committee, of which Mr. H. A. Morchison is chairman, and Walter Carlson, treasurer, have asked La Crosse city and county to save the lives of 222 orphans, as our quota.

President Harding, Governor Blaine and Mayor Bentley have all recently issued proclamations, urging all good people as far as possible to aid the Near East Relief. The La Crosse county Committee joins in this appeal, confident that our public spirited men and women, never averse to the call of humanity, will not fail to heed this great humanitarian cause.

TROUT FISHERMEN LEAVE BY SCORES FOR OPENING DAY

La Crosse Disciples of Izaak Walton Take to the Tall Timber

Clad in khaki, hunting clothes, sweaters, boots and what-not, 22 festive trout fishermen were starting for the wilds of Monroe and Jackson counties Saturday afternoon, carrying in their cars an array of rubber boots, poles, creels, fly-bait, and camping paraphernalia sufficient to stock a store.

It was estimated that between 100 and 200 fishermen left La Crosse Saturday bound for divers spots north and east of here where they will camp for two or three days and enjoy the first day of the season flitting with the speckled beauties. The season opens Monday morning and practically all of the La Crosse fishermen will be on the streams at break of day.

In addition to those who left Saturday to go into camp, many others are planning to leave this afternoon and evening, spending the night in hotels or farm homes as close to their favorite streams as they can get and, with the campers, getting to the creeks at day break.

One of the largest parties leaving the city Saturday was one bound for Spring Bank, east of Sparta, where a cottage has been engaged for a few days. In this party were Archie Oltberg, Tom Thompson, Harold Stavrum, Clark Morley, Dr. Marshall, Dr. Gatterdam, Charles Colman, Norman Moll and Ray Koeler.

MOTHER'S FUNERAL HELD IN WISCONSIN TO PERMIT PRISONER SON TO ATTEND

WAUPUN, Wis.—A mother's prayer before the rendezvous with death had its compensation Saturday.

The last request of a mother dying in Iowa was that either she be permitted to see her son, now serving a penitentiary term at Waupun, or that the boy be permitted to see her before her casket went to the grave.

The mother lived in Iowa. The boy is an ex-service man serving a sentence for burglary in Waupun. The boy had not served a sufficient length of time to permit of a parole under the circumstances. The aged uncle of the boy who is supposed to give John J. Blaine to allow the boy to come home for the funeral. The latter request was impossible because the state has no control over a released prisoner once the state has released him.

But there was the prayer of the mother that her son be given a last opportunity to see her even in death. Fifty miles out of the way a funeral cortege traveled Saturday from Waupun, Wis., to Pacific Junction, Iowa, and the funeral was held in Wisconsin. The boy, accompanied by a prison guard, was permitted to attend the funeral.

After the funeral the cortege will go back by the same railroad train to the little family cemetery in Waupun, Wis. The boy with the last kindly look of his mother's eyes to be his.

Spring's First Message

"Your curtains need Thor-O-Kleaning."

DURING the dark winter months the dust and soot has stealthily accumulated on your curtains. And now the spring sunshine, flooding through your windows, makes a startling revelation of the condition of their hangings.

Let us take off your hands the worrisome task of washing those curtains. Our new process will banish all the soil as if by magic, leaving them fresh and dainty as new, without a single disfiguring stretcher-hole. And there's no need to wonder how curtains will hang when they've been Thor-O-Kleaned at the Modern Laundry—for every corner will be straight and true.

Let us help you with your other house-cleaning worries. Send us your blankets, rag rugs, quilts and pillows. While you are busy with the cleaning of your home, don't bother with the weekly washing—have us do it the SEMI-FINISHED way.

BOY SCOUTS GIVE INTERESTING PLAY TO A LARGE CROWD

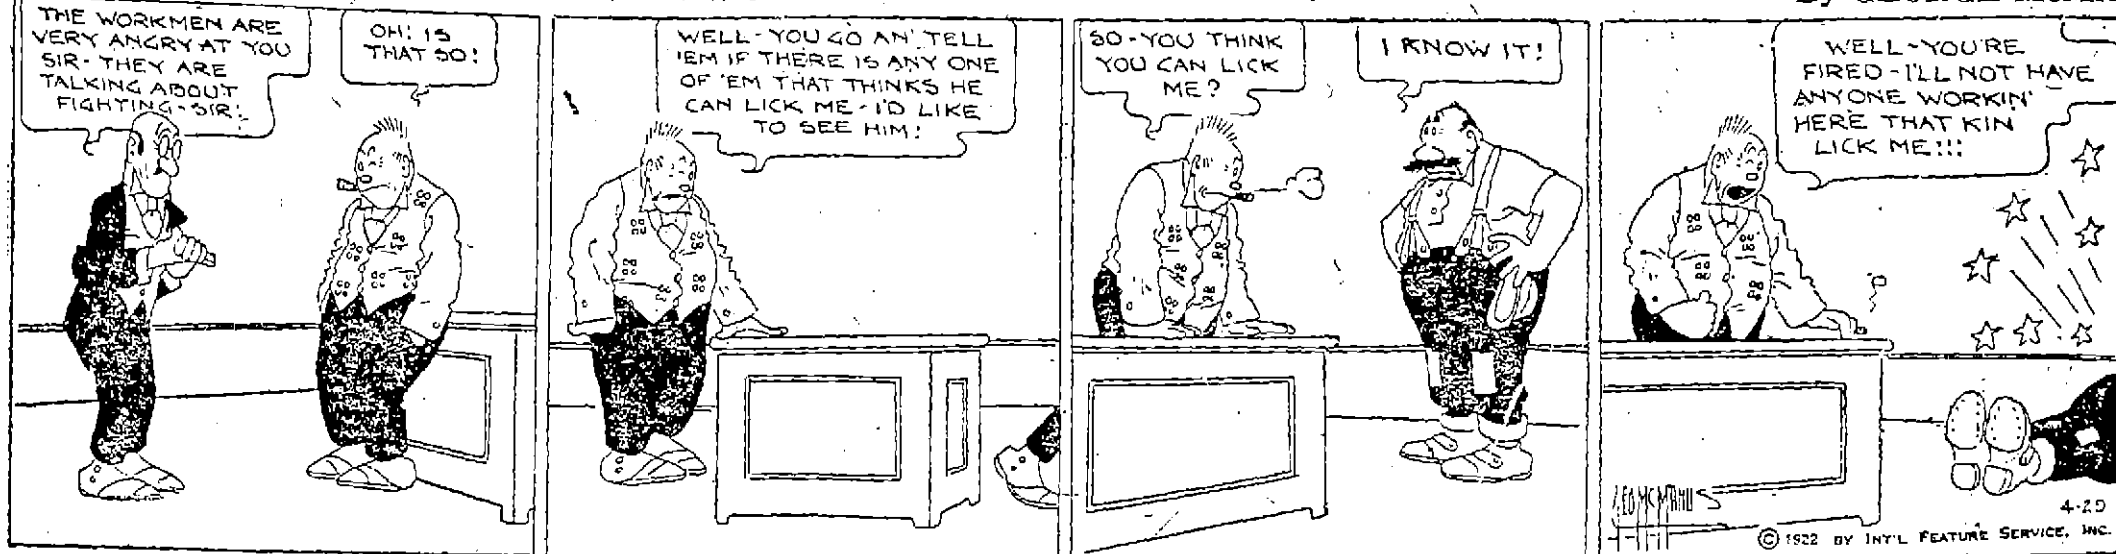

RUSHFORD, Minn.—Seldom has this city enjoyed within a week two such good entertainments as have been presented here. Last Friday evening the Boy Scouts put on the play entitled "A Street Boy's Honor," being directed and coached by their efficient Scout Master, "Moppy" Anderson, and also by Prof. C. P. Weid, of Rushford. Twenty-four boys were in the cast and all took their lines and played like old stage veterans; every one going so well that it would be difficult, indeed, to choose any one better than his stage partner. Those who played were James Robertson, Walter Miller, Norman Berg, Bernard Jensen, Everett and Emmett Emsrud, Merle Fowler, Carl Julrud, Leonard Jensen, Wilfred Olander, Harvey James, Norman Johnson, Elmer Tomlin, Peter Nelson, Teddy Steadman, Leslie Hooper. The boys found a large audience waiting them when the curtain rose for the first act and applause was frequent and enthusiastic. After all expenses were paid, there was left towards the boys' camping trip this summer the sum of $57.50.

Next Friday, April 28th, the senior class of 1922 present the play "A Man of Honor." The cast is: Harold Rutledge, young New Yorker; Lawrence Halvorsen, Peter Deane, son of the soil; David Halbreth, New York lawyer; Elias Holcomb, owner of Valley Farm; Martin Olson, headlines a butler; Otto Jensen, Harry Holcomb, a country flower; Ruth Nester, Keen clock maker; Elmer Hill, Isabel Carney, niece to David Halbreth; Marion Kierkow, Mrs. Rutledge, Harold's mother; Laura Vaughn Caswell, Anna Holcomb, sister of Elias; Mary Ann Tucker, a housewife but never a gossip; Marion Julrud, Verba, hired girl at the farm; Marguerite Pierce, Prof. C. P. Weid is also the coach for this play, which fact speaks for its success. There will be a matinee for school children and all who cannot attend in the evening, this to take place Friday afternoon at 2:30 while the evening's program commences at 8:00.

The various activities scheduled for the next two weeks means that all the seniors and the juniors as well, will be on the hop, skip and jump from now until the commencement exercises are finished. On May 19th there will be enjoyed the annual music recital of the Rushford schools at which time all who are taking up music as a special study will be heard. On May 12th the annual school exhibit will be held, when there will be seen work from the manual training department, specimens of sewing from the sewing classes and the grades lower than these will exhibit work from each room. The date of the Junior-Senior reception will be given later. With final examinations to take place the first week of school and commencement exercises to be held the evening of June 3rd those who participate in any of the activities will have little time for relaxation. The baccalaureate sermon's date will be announced later when time, place and the name of the speaker will be given.

At the last regular meeting of the Women's Welfare League, the Civic Improvement committee of the organization presented the program. A talk upon the proposed activities for the coming summer was given by the chairman of the Civic committee, Mrs. E. L. Kilbourne, who outlined plans. Among these are the keeping up of the Triangle Park, near the public library, as well as aiding in keeping in order the parks near the Brooklyn bridge and that in Brooklyn. There will be improvements made—so far as funds will allow—at the public picnic grounds near the flour mill, the grounds having been put in shape with tables, benches, and as well as a small stove for campers' cookery. The "swat the fly" program will be carried on with vehemence this summer also, and all the city is asked to co-operate with the league in the efforts to rid the place of these miserable pests which last summer so troubled us.

It is planned to place large portable fly-traps in every place that would be apt to breed the flies, or to draw them upon the premises. Mr. and Mrs. Joan McLeod are in Albert Lea this week; Mr. McLeod being a delegate to a convention held there. They are guests of their daughter, son-in-law and family, The McMillans. Mrs. George Mide and Mrs. Agnes Ingalls were hostesses at a very pleasant card party last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ingalls. Cards and conversation were enjoyed and also a dainty lunch served. The next meeting of the league will be held at the home of one of its members, Mrs. A. C. Robertson, on Stevens' avenue. At this time the program will be in the nature of a musicale, directed by Miss H. Louise Wright, who has kindly consented to give the league members and their friends this treat. Both piano and Victrola will be used. Among those who have returned to their work in other places after spending the vacation here were Kenneth Sheldahl and Miss Ruth Berg, both of whom are students of the La Crosse Business College; Lillian Simily, also employed in La Crosse; Miss Mary Ann, a stenographer in Rochester, Minn.; Ann Marie Layne, of St. Mary's College, Winona; Lucie Trinz, teacher in the Lakeville, Minn. schools; Helen Guilhane, teaching at Madelia, Minn.; Joseph Holger, instructor of agriculture in the Blackley, Minn. schools; David Tobias, of La Crosse; Isabelle McKay, teaching at Northfield, Minn.; Josephine Wang, teaching at Mabel, Minn.; Irving Vigard, Myrtle, and Clifford Jensen, Nora and Esther Savitz, Esther and Maurice Julrud, James Hill, Gladys Larson, Elvin Halvorsen, Clarence and Elvira Hassarud, all students at St. Olaf's College, Northfield, also Miss Clara Egnar, of the latter college. Mrs. A. Wright, President of the local W. C. T. U. was hostess at a very enjoyable Father-Mothering of the organization, recently, at her home in Brooklyn. A short program was given, consisting of music and reading and a delicious lunch served at the close of the meeting. Mrs. C. K. Osgard and little son and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lloyd Osgard, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Osgard's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Humble, returned to their home at Madelia, recently. Another treat is in store for Rushfordites on May 16th. On that date there will be held here on Implement Dealers' Convention. A ride about the city and six o'clock dinner at the Northwestern Hotel; also a Community Sing in the evening will be the features of part of the day. Mr. Osgard, of this city, celebrated his 80th birthday recently; all of his children, except one, being present upon the occasion. There are seven children: Prof. C. G. Selvig, of Crookston Agricultural College; Dr. C. Selvig, of Harmony, Minn.; Hans, a prosperous farmer of Fremont, Minn.; Olin, in the service of the railroad as mail-clerk; Dr. Thor Selvig of Montana; Miss Geneva, a teacher and Mrs. L. Paulson, of South Fork, Minn., wife of a prosperous farmer. Lewis Robertson and Oliver Holmes, students at Carleton College, Northfield, have returned to their studies there. Mr. Holmes was accompanied home by a friend, Thomas Howard who spent the Easter season here.

Economy in seed buying shows only in the crop

IT costs less to produce so-called "bargain seeds"—just as shoddy costs less than fine worsteds. But seeds look alike. You must judge their quality by their reputation—by their produce.

Decide now—before you begin your garden—that you will buy seeds as you would anything else that's fine and worthy. Let the bargain hunters buy so-called bargain seeds. Where they save pennies now, you will make dollars in bigger, finer crops.

SWEDEN PLANS TO INTERN CRIMINALS TILL THEY'RE CURED

Special Government Committee
Makes Study of Best Means of Protecting Society

STOCKHOLM.—Habitual criminals in Sweden would be "interned" until they are cured of their criminal tendencies, under a plan recommended by a special government committee.

The committee has been making an extensive study of the best means of protecting society from such individuals as well as from degenerates, mentally diseased, epileptics and violent offenders.

It recommends the establishment of special institutions in which to keep such criminals until they are reformed to normal.

Many Swedish legal experts favor the committee's plan.

The head of the Swedish prison system has further recommended that effective means be taken to prevent such individuals from having children. He says this is in line with steps which have been made in certain parts of the United States.

Chief inspectors of hospitals, and plans for industrial farms sponsored in the United States, which provides for habitual "alcoholics" who have been named to drink a few treatment in special workhouses for indefinite periods.

NEW VILLAGES IN HOLLAND

The work of draining the Zuider Zee has progressed and as fast as one part is completed, another new project is started. At the present inland shipping congress, the matter was discussed and discussed at length. It was pointed out that the drainage would necessitate the construction of a number of new villages. One speaker pointed out that the building of new villages and factories in the polders should not be left to mere chance. Villages with churches should be built near the canals, but industrial works near the dykes. Such an arrangement would prove of advantage to shipping and would prevent any pollution of the polder water. A number of the waterways connecting the Zuider Zee are to be preserved, but wherever polders form a continuation of the existing land, new harbors will have to be made.

Thirty-two Chances for Infection.

Many serious diseases are caused by pus getting into the system from pyorrhea or dead teeth. There are thirty-two chances of infection from the permanent teeth—one for each tooth. If they are neglected serious trouble may arise.

You can prevent such mouth infection by regular use of the PEX Tooth Brush. This helps in this work because its size and shape make it easy to clean the outside and inside of the teeth thoroughly (note illustration). The PEX Brush gets into the out-of-the-way places, and removes the small particles of food in which are developed pus-forming germs that cause pyorrhea and decay of the teeth.

PEX Dental Cream dissolves off that film which covers your teeth and holds the food deposits that cause decay and infection. Keeps the gums firm and healthy—the teeth white and clean.

Don't Let Decay Steal Your Home

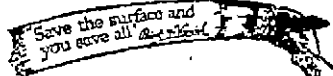

It takes more than a double-barreled lock, a double barreled shot gun or even burglar alarms on the windows to protect the home fully. There's one particularly insidious, stealthy thief who ignores such precautions. Decay attacks where least expected, and is ever at it—day and night.

HIGH AVERAGES IN HOLMEN COW TEST FOR PAST MONTH

Henry Waldenberger's Herd in the Lead According to the Tester's Report

The herd averages of the Holmen Cow Testing Association for the month show Henry Waldenberger's herd of purebred and high grade Ayrshires in the lead, with an average of 877 pounds of 4.10 per cent milk making 35.9 pounds butterfat.
Emil Knudson's Guernseys come second, with an average of 751 pounds of 4.74 per cent milk making 32.9 pounds butterfat.

Two high grade cows and three grade heifers were sold for dairy purposes.

Considerable shortage of silage on account of long feeding season.
Have advised buying of beet pulp as substitute.

Hay holding out fairly good. Some members are selling timothy and buying alfalfa.

Quite hard to get oilmeal. Some members are buying dairy feed instead.

The Empty Bowl

By EDWARD HUNGERFORD

In America

ham and eggs, beefsteak, griddle cakes—oh, boy, mother's cooking supper!

In Armenia

roots and grass, the paring of a horse's hoof, a captured beetle.
Perhaps a seat at one of the Near East Relief's mess tables and the luxury of cocoa and a quarter-pound of bread a day.

In Armenia thousands of children in scanty rags begging for bread, wandering the roads seeking for refuse or lying dead in the cities or around the countryside—as against the motor cars, costly clothes, peace, plenty, and happiness of America.

"FEED MY LAMBS"

The food that is in your larder in reality is not yours. It has come to you through propitious circumstances as well as through the endeavors of your own hands.
Under similar conditions, the people of Armenia would also be well-fed and happy and prosperous.

War, invasion, civil war and drought—widespread disaster beyond human control—have reduced them to the condition in which they find themselves today.

What can the impotent Armenian do?
What could you do under similar circumstances?

Only one thing. Beg mercy. Appeal for generosity. Can you, knowing that circumstances alone protect you from a like fate, refuse either?

Up to date, the Near East Relief, through the generosity of the American public (which has given $60,000,000), has saved the lives of a million Armenians. Of these, over 100,000 children are safe behind the walls of orphanages, where they are being fed, clothed, housed and educated for the industrial and agricultural rehabilitation of their country.

"The Seed Corn of a Great Race"

But for every child inside, there is at least one, half-naked, outside, who would be turned away hungry were it not for the Near East Relief bread lines. It is 25,000 of these children in the Transcaucasian famine zone, who will have to be abandoned, owing to a 25 per cent reduction in appropriations,
if you do not respond to the Lenten Sacrifice Appeal.

These are the children of the oldest Christian nation on earth, the hope of the Armenian people, "the seed corn of a great race." Shall they rejoin their outcast brothers?
Or will you
help us save them?

Quality Product—Quantity Price
Chevrolet is the chief quantity product of the world's largest producer of quality automobiles.

Only great engineering, research, manufacturing and financing capacity make possible so fine and complete an automobile for so small a price.

Chevrolet now leads all standard fully equipped cars in volume of sales, proving that it makes good in service and represents today's greatest motoring value.

Cost Least Per Mile and Per Year
Chevrolet costs least per mile in consumption of gasoline, oil and tires. It costs least per year because of small price and lowest repair bills.

It delivers the most economical transportation available in motoring, yet in construction and appearance it is a credit to its builders and its owners. It has standard 3-speed transmission.

Before buying any car at any price it will pay you to investigate Chevrolet.

See it. Compare it. Ask for Demonstration.

EARLY DECISION MAY BE EXPECTED ON RAILROAD RATES

Letter from John J. Esch Explains How Commerce Commission is Working

That the Interstate Commerce Commission expects to make an early decision on the general railroad rate question is the assertion of John J. Esch, La Crosse member of the commission, in a letter to the traffic bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, responding to an inquiry. The traffic bureau has sent out the following letter to members explaining the situation:

In response to inquiry from this office to the Interstate Commerce Commission as to the probable date of their decision covering their recent investigation of the general rate situation with a view to possible reductions the following letter has just been received from Commissioner Esch:

Your letter of April 22nd making inquiry as to the probable date of our decision in the general rate inquiry, has been received. Of course I cannot give you definite information. The situation at present is as follows: The majority of the commission, of which I am a member, has been reviewing the testimony and preparing a preliminary report for the consideration of the full commission during the last three weeks. The preliminary report we hope to complete this week. How long it will take the full commission to reach a conclusion I cannot tell. I can only say that it is the determination of every member of the commission to publish at the earliest possible date our decision. The country has been expecting action ever since the hearing were concluded and knowing the value of certainty in the matter of rates we are making every effort to reach a decision.

Regretting that I cannot give you more definite information that as above indicated, and extending kindest regards, I remain,
(Signed)
"JOHN J. ESCH."

LIVERPOOL'S SOOT RECORD

London is far from being the sootiest place in England, and the records of the meteorological office place the distinction on Liverpool, where, it is stated, during January alone, there were 26.03 tons of dirt deposited on every square kilometre. Kingston-upon-Hull came next with 20.24 and Newcastle-upon-Tyne showed a deposit of 18.35 tons.

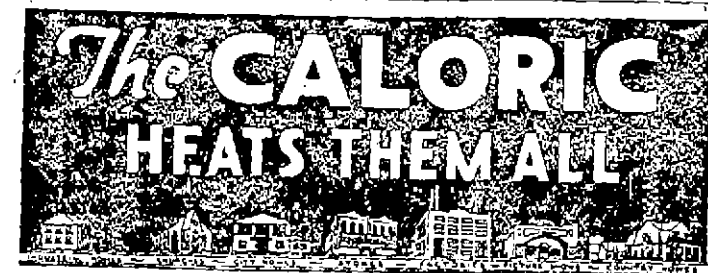

Comparison with London may be made when it is shown that the dirtiest neighborhood round Southwark Park totaled 16.91 tons a square kilometre. Some of the "lungs" of the metropolis were astonishingly clean, and Finsbury Park was only one-third as dirty as Southwark. Golden Lane and Wandsworth Common showed 14 to 12 tons deposit, respectively.

Homes, stores, churches, factories—all over the country—are being heated more comfortably and at less cost with the Caloric pipeless furnace.

The Caloric delivers practically 100% of the heat from the fuel directly into your rooms, and at the same time withdraws the cool air from the building. This establishes a natural air circulation, with the result that the building is heated more uniformly and fuel consumption is cut 1/3 to 1/2. There are now

OVER 135,000 CALORIC USERS

—in every state in the Union, in Canada, Alaska—and many in this locality.

Here a word of warning. Caloric success has been so revolutionary that it has aroused opposition from those who profit from making and selling out-of-date heating systems. The result is that many imitation pipeless furnaces have been put out which are failures. Be not misled by these failures. Most of them were designed to be failures—and have been marketed in vain attempts to discredit the rapidly-growing Caloric idea.

The Caloric is a 100% success—proven so by its record through years of making good—and by the guarantee of "satisfaction or money back" under which we sell it.

THE STANDARD OF THE WORLD

Eight years ago, Cadillac introduced America's first eight-cylinder automobile power plant, the V-Type Cadillac Engine.

It achieved an immediate and a brilliant success, later enhanced by distinguished service with the American Expeditionary Forces in France.

Today, after years of painstaking development and refinement, the Cadillac Engine attains an extraordinary degree of perfection in the Type 61.

Not only Cadillac owners, but practically all motorists praise its superb power flow and its consummate quietness of operation.

They refer in glowing terms to its dependability, emphasizing that it functions with a constancy and a certitude that suggest infallible performance.

But the great and the cardinal triumph of the Cadillac engine is that it perpetuates this service; it continues running surely and serenely throughout its long life.

The motoring public admires this eight-cylinder power plant, not only as a Cadillac achievement, but as the splendid evidence of American supremacy in multi-cylinder construction.

In it, they see typified the qualities that cause the Cadillac car to be regarded as the Standard of the World.

The Walrus

One fine has come the Walrus said
"Go talk of many things
Of shoes and ships and sealing-wax
Of cabbages and kings."

(By C. A. W.)

Back from a visit in the British Isles during which he viewed life and conditions from various angles and returned with cool notions and other workers and hobnobbing with other workers, Henry C. Thomas, local shoe manufacturer, expressed his belief in being a citizen of the United States upon his return home with his wife a few days ago. "We will know what troubles are in this country," said H. C. "Industrial conditions in England and Wales are very bad. There are hundreds of thousands out of work. Former service men who fill the pool halls and other public places are given fifteen shillings a week by the government. They have difficulty in getting out an existence with this stipend. There are thousands of widows with children being supported by the parishes. Taxes are very high. A friend told me he paid one-twelfth of his total income for taxes." After an absence of 41 years, Mr. Thomas enjoyed to the utmost a visit with a sister he had not seen in all that time. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas found themselves in the best society in Liverpool when they went to visit one Edwin T. Jones, a cousin of John E. Laughton of this city. At the latter's request, Mr. T. Jones, who is a member of the Liverpool Gas and Electric company, insisted that Mr. and Mrs. Thomas be his guests while in the city, and they enjoyed to the utmost the comforts of a palatial English home with beautiful garden, servants galore and every convenience.

Speaking of returned travelers reminds me that I bumped into Ed Peterson, all the way from Rio de Janeiro, on the street the other day. Mr. Peterson and his charming South American wife and their little girl are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ellingson. Ed and his wife have been connected with the public utility in Rio for ten years, both holding responsible executive positions, and while they admit and find pleasure in living in beautiful Rio, they enjoy even more their occasional visits home. Ed tipped off that he had sailed on the new steamer after he left and would be along in a few days to spend the summer in his old home town. Discussing business conditions in South America, Mr. Peterson said that one of the most impressive activities in Brazil right now is the way that Germany is hustling to get trade in that neck of the woods and in other South American countries, as well. "American industries will have to bustle if they want to get their share of the trade in South America," said Mr. Peterson.

A noteworthy example of the splendid work that the state department of agriculture is doing to keep Wisconsin in the front rank of agricultural states was seen in La Crosse county during the month, when representatives of the department appeared and sprayed fruit trees in several orchards for San Jose scale, to head off the most extensive infestation of this insect in Wisconsin.

A little automobile trip or hike through that part of the city lying east of the Green Bay tracks during these busy spring days will be an eye opener to citizens who have not visited this section recently. On every hand one sees handsome new houses, employed or in process of construction. Many of the houses built during the last year in this very desirable and rapidly growing residence district are structures which cost between $7,000 and $15,000 and some even more. Real estate men tell me the desirable lots left in the east end district are going fast and they expect to see the section beyond the truck hall in almost solid to three years. Evidently a good many persons are awakening to the fact that, with Main and Chest streets east to the paved to the bluff, the east end, close to the majestic hills which crown the city's eastern boundary, is coming into its own.

Mrs. Edith Hart, a sister of Homer Hart and well known in the city of her girlhood, was one of the pianists who helped stage a big fashion review in the Queen Park auditorium at Los Angeles, which scouted a big hit with tourists, according to Miss Cassie Leaven, recently returned from California. Sixteen prize-winning kiddies constituted a display of a local beauty which Los Angeles papers pronounced the best ever. "The orchestra was enhanced by the piano playing of Mrs. Edith Hart," asserted one paper.

Franz Gieseler, aged 80, a hardy pioneer and resident of La Crosse and frequent traveler for fifty years, appeared before the United States court at La Crosse a few days ago and made application for a passport preliminary to a trip to Europe. Mr. Gieseler, still enjoying good health, plans to spend some time in Germany, his birth place. Few men of Mr. Gieseler's age would care to make a trip across the Atlantic alone, but he is looking forward to the voyage with nothing but pleasurable anticipations.

HANDSOME HOME IS PROVIDED HERE FOR THE NATIONAL GUARD

Largest and Best Equipped Armory in the State Outside of Milwaukee

FOUR UNITS NOW COMPRISE NATIONAL GUARD IN CITY

Attractive Features Provided for the Militiamen Here

WITH four units of the National Guard located here, in the largest and best equipped armory in the state outside of Milwaukee, with drill rooms, immense drill room and other splendid facilities, La Crosse's citizen soldiery is attracting widespread attention in its handsome new quarters on the Monrovia boulevard. La Crosse now has the largest number of National Guard units in the history of the city. Drilled by experienced officers, the commands housed in the south end of the city form an efficient military machine. That the work is interesting is attested by the large attendance on each drill night. Over $25,000 is expended each year here to maintain this military organization, including pay for the officers and enlisted men and operating costs. Citizens visiting the new armory are amazed at the size of the building and the splendid facilities afforded for the housing of the guns, horses and equipment.

Two Huge Halls
Two big halls nearly a half block long furnish drill and assembly rooms of exceptional size for the indoor work of the men in khaki.

There are large store rooms and locker rooms for the valuable equipment of the four commands, a blacksmith shop, fully equipped; huge stables and box-stalls for each horse and every required accommodation within the four walls of the big building. The big French guns are housed in the first floor drill hall on the west side of the building. The upper drill room, the largest hall in the city, will eventually be given a hardwood floor and will be the scene of many military feasts.

The new National Guard is an efficient military organization, operating on a pay basis under the federal government.

The act of Congress of June 4th, 1920 provides in part as follows: "The army of the United States shall consist of the Regular Army, the National Guard when in the service of the United States and the Organized Reserves."

This part of the military force of the United States is at the present writing the result of the evolution of part of the forces turned militia during the early history of our country, to which little glory and much criticism attached. Our present National Guard is about as far removed from that force as an oak tree is from the corn, yet many persons fail to grasp this fact. They fail to observe the wonderful growth and development of this branch of the service.

Since 1898 when state forces or organized militia were accepted into the United States Army as volunteers, now laws have steadily removed objectionable features of delay and confusion in the process of converting state forces into federal forces until commencing with the act of June 3rd, 1916, the state has the force which is now known as the National Guard. Under the present act both men and officers are well paid for the drills which they attend and the work which they actually do. However, the present organization has not as its foundation a desire for compensation on the part of the men enlisted but is supported and the ranks are filled by men living in a community which is interested in the peace and welfare of that community and of the country.

Wisconsin Ranks First
At the present writing the state of Wisconsin ranks first in line of advanced organization of the new National Guard. There have been organized to strength in this state a number of regiments of infantry, a number of cavalry regiments and two regiments of field artillery.

The 120th Field Artillery, is located at La Crosse with four units, the Second Battalion Headquarters and Combat Train, Battery "D" and the Regimental Medical Detachment.

Battery Organized First
Battery "D" has been organized for about two years and formerly had its stable and headquarters at 423 State Street in the property formerly occupied by the Palace Hotel. Since the growth of new units, this location had to be abandoned and about December 1st, 1921 the adjutant general leased from the Johnant General Company the building and grounds used by it as a stable, a two-story brick structure, 147x121 feet, and in addition thereto sufficient ground for use as a horse corral and outdoor drill field.

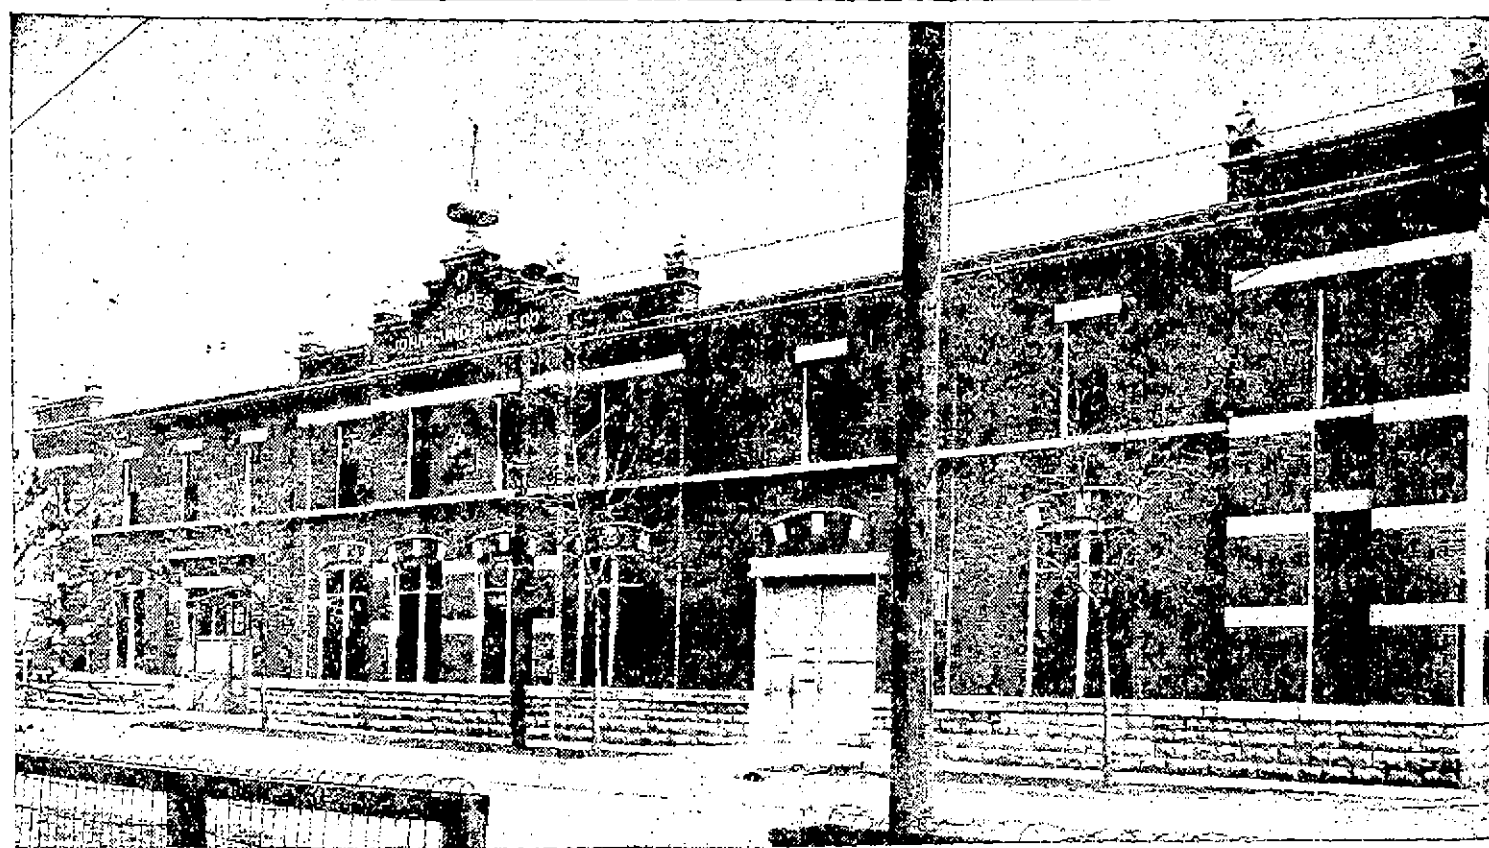

Inspecting officers of the United States Army say that La Crosse now has the best armory and facilities for the training of field artillery troops anywhere in the state of Wisconsin and has the best quarters for National Guard troops located out of the city of Milwaukee. Thus far Battery "D" has received its full equipment, including horses, guns, ammunition and aiming instruments, as well as all other carriages, which would actually be used in the field.

Other Units Here
The Headquarters Battery is partially equipped, having no yet received its horses.

The Medical Detachment is fully equipped with the exception of horses. The Battalion Headquarters Detachment and Combat Train, which is now in process of organization, has as yet received no equipment.

Drill Every Week
Drills for Battery "D" and Headquarters Battery are held Monday evenings at 7:30 and continue for one and one-half hours. The Combat Train and Headquarters Detachment of the Battalion, which is now partially organized, meets at the Armory on Tuesday nights at 7:30.

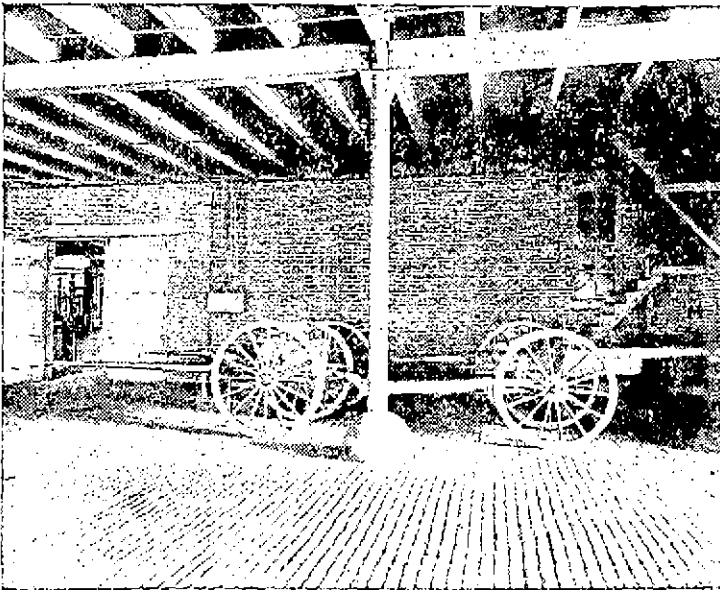

The men of all batteries are instructed in the use of guns and other material located at the Armory, as well as in the care of the horses, and are given riding instruction regularly. Men who are qualified to ride alone are given that permission and may use the government horses at any time.

With this well-equipped Armory at La Crosse the members of the various units are able to get all the training necessary to make them real soldiers in time of war. As members of a National Guard organization they can learn the fundamentals of the business without acquiring all of the faults.

The units at La Crosse are made up about one-half of ex-service men and about one-half of men who have seen little or no service, or who were too young to take part in the European War. The local units of the 120th Field Artillery offer to the men of La Crosse an opportunity to have some of this training. Men who were too young for the European War may not be too old for the next war. As a general rule losses of a unit in time of war are directly proportioned to its lack of training, experience and discipline. Members of units have in addition to the training good exercise and clean, healthy recreation.

Form of Insurance
The men interested in the local units feel that the National Guard is a form of insurance," said Major Stanley G. Gordon. "Insurance to the people of the community as well as insurance to the country. Most people now realize that a million men springing to arms have a lot of high jumping to do before they spring anything on the other fellow. They must know their business before they invest any lives and equipment in the venture. Warfare is neither a profession nor a trade but a combination of the two and best covered by the word 'insurance' as we ordinarily use it."

In the local application of the National Guard units the citizens of this community are the directors; the men in charge of the organizations are responsible to them for their policy. The people furnish the money and they receive a return therefor. They have the privilege of seeing their insurance in operation and the great or part of their initial investment and all their premiums are kept at home. The system has proved effective in the last war, one-third of the American Army of Occupation was picked from the National Guard. It contained replacements of drafted and professional soldiers but its identity and loyalty were National Guard.

The men interested in the local units feel that the National Guard sional soldiers but its identity and loyalty were National Guard. The men interested in the La Crosse Units wish the people of La Crosse to visit them and see for themselves what these organizations are accomplishing. There are still vacancies in the officer and enlisted personnel of the Battalion Headquarters and Combat Train, which will be federally recognized early in the month of May. Men are desired who either wish to receive their former interests of who, without previous experience, wish an opportunity to become real soldiers."

Will Not Make the Hair Grow
The story has gained some circulation in part of this country that a diet of peanuts will make the hair grow and because of the number of inquiries received, the bureau of chemistry has made an investigation. The result of its findings was that ground peanuts contain about twenty per cent of protein of high nutritional quality and the oil, is easily digested and furnishes fuel and energy. It is a very excellent supplement to a cereal diet but it will not grow hair.

The change which will take effect Monday is the third which has been made since Judge Booth's original decision, in which the rate was fixed at $1.93 per 1000 cubic feet. Four months after this decision the rate was cut to $1.80 net per 1000 cubic feet. Jan. 1 of the present year another cut was made, this time of 10 cents, bringing the price down to $1.70 net.

The price which will be established Monday, according to the report, will be $1.79 per 1000 cubic feet, an advance of nine cents a thousand over the price which has prevailed for the last four months.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR SERVICE IN BIG CONVENTION COMING

Young People to Flock to Luther League Triennial Here in June

(By REV. E. O. VIK.)

One of the greatest events the young people have ever been attracted to, will be the coming International Triennial Convention of our Young People's Luther League to be held June 8th to 11th at La Crosse, Wis. La Crosse is interested and is making preparations on an elaborate scale. This large convention, where young people can come together from all districts and circuits of the church, for mutual encouragement and inspiration, will give the young people an opportunity to gain a larger vision and to get clearer impressions of the insistent call by the church from its every field of activity. The great opportunities for service will be presented in all their glory.

The desire to serve is one of the strongest impulses in modern life. Even those who have no other faith believe in being helpful. Those who have faith in God see more clearly than ever before that faith must be justified by service. Civil, social and Christian service is the keynote of modern religion. And service is really the great purpose of our Young People's Luther League.

Fitted for Service

The question then is how may we become best fitted, best equipped and best prepared to do the work and perform the service that is required? In the first place, we must possess the intelligence and the knowledge, which the world, our country, our nation and our church demand of us. Knowledge is fundamental and an absolute necessity in successfully accomplishing any task or performing any service. The various phases of the work of real service will be intelligently presented and the best means and methods of putting our knowledge into practice will be ably demonstrated at the great gathering of loyal Lutheran young people at La Crosse, in June.

Knowledge is of little value unless it can be used for some purpose. The knowledge therefore of the Y. P. L. L. must find expression in action. We must work and the work must be consistent, steady and sincere. Inactivity is a curse to the church work, fully as much as it is a huge source of evil deeds in civil life. Whatever our part, let us do it sincerely and faithfully, strive to do the tasks that fall to us in our service to our Lord, our church, home and country.

Fine Opportunity Here

The great La Crosse convention will offer a wonderful opportunity of helpfulness and assistance in attaining the object and true purpose of the Y. P. L. L., that of real service.

If we want joy in our church work and our service of mankind, our splendid organization should endeavor to inculcate in us a willingness, yes, even a desire to consecrate our lives to God. To consecrate means to set apart from common use to a holy use; we must separate ourselves from the materialistic, selfish and mercenary spirit of the time, and resolve to follow the grand prototype, the Man from Galilee, and consecrate our hopes, our loftiest aims and ambitions to the service of the Prince of Peace. Then will our knowledge find expression in the real service to the glory of God.

The mighty gathering of loyal Lutheran young people at La Crosse in June will be an inspiration for 100 per cent intelligent, enthusiastic and consecrated service to God, church, home, country and nation.

WINONA GAS RATE RAISED 9 CENTS FOR FOUR MONTHS

$1.79 for 1,000 Cubic Feet New Figure Beginning May 1; Prices Adjusted Quarterly

The price of gas in Winona for the coming four months starting May 1 will be $1.79 net per 1000 cubic feet, according to the report of the holder cost of gas for the months of December, January, February and March, just filed with City Recorder George Hofmann by Manager G. W. Briggs.

According to the decision given by Judge Arthur Wilbur F. Booth of the United States court the price of gas in Winona is adjusted every four months, on the basis of the holder cost for the preceding four months, this being a variable element, the rest of the price remaining fixed.

The change which will take effect Monday is the third which has been made since Judge Booth's original decision, in which the rate was fixed at $1.93 per 1000 cubic feet. Four months after this decision the rate was cut to $1.80 net per 1000 cubic feet. Jan. 1 of the present year another cut was made, this time of 10 cents, bringing the price down to $1.70 net.

AGRICULTURE COURSE FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

Elementary agriculture has been added to the course of the grammar schools in the suburban districts of New Jersey. A former teacher has been employed to take charge of this study and it has been arranged that each class will have some of this work each week. This cannot be called a fad for it has been tried in a small way and has proven to be very successful where the right kind of teacher has been secured. The course must be made attractive and interesting and where it has been done in this manner it has been found acceptable.

TOM MIX THURSDAY
Tom Mix comes to the Majestic Theater on Thursday in "The Rough Diamond," a picture that is an extraordinary departure from the type that he has made famous. It is a thrillingly romantic story, with Mix playing the part of a dashing gentleman adventurer, and early reports on the picture declare that Mix's versatility and power as an actor in his new role has dazzled and filled with pleasant surprise all those who have seen it. He is revealed especially in the early scenes, as a conceiver of every positive ability.

The atmosphere of the story is unusually varied and colorful, ranging from an American city to the capital of a tropical republic, with ships, a circus in full blaze of light, a wedding, adding flavor to the whole. To the host of Mix admirers throughout the world it reveals him as a new genius.

Today, Bill Russell, admirers of William Russell are promised an extraordinary treat in "The Roof Tree," which will be today's attraction at the Majestic Theater. This picture tells a vivid story of a Virginia who fled into Kentucky after his sister's husband was slain, under an assumed name he falls in love with a girl whose grandfather had known his family for three generations. Through circumstances he is forced to deny his membership in that family. However, he lives under the benign influence of a magnificent roof tree which his own grandfather and planted when he went to house-keeping with his new bride.

But the magic of the old tree seems to fail, after a lightning blast, and a series of misfortunes result. This unusual picture is based on a story by Charles Neville Buck, an author who is at home in the hills of Kentucky and Virginia, and is thoroughly familiar with the conditions of that portion of the country.

RIVOLI'S SHOWING OF GREAT GRIFFITH FILM BEGINS ON MONDAY

A practically all-star cast was chosen by Director William de Mille for his latest production, "After the Show," which will be featured at the Rivoli Theater Sunday only, giving place Monday to D. W. Griffith's "Orphans of the Storm." Jack Holt, Lila Lee, beautiful and charming and popular and Charles Ogle, one of the best known character actors of the screen, are the featured players. The supporting players are well known stage and screen artists. They include Eve Southern, a beautiful actress, Shannon Day, formerly of the "Police," Stella Seeger, Carlton King and Ethel Wales. The story of the picture by Rita Weisman, deals with the stage as did her story, "Footlights," in which Elsie Ferguson is the star. Some thirty beautiful young women who represent the chorus of a musical comedy, appear in the theater scenes.

BOSWORTH, MIX AND RUSSELL TO APPEAR ON MAJESTIC SCREEN

Hobart Bosworth, starring in "The Sea Lion," showing Monday at the Majestic Theater, can justly be called the champion fighter of the screen. It is probable that no other man in filmdom has been called upon to engage in the number of savage fist fights that Bosworth has. His brave stands him in good stead for he insists that there be no faking, and encourages his screen adversaries to attack him with every ounce of their physical strength.

As Kels Nelson, the battling "Sea Lion," he battles single handed with a crew of twelve men in making, feeling them one by one with sunshing blows from his mighty fists. The men working with Bosworth in this scene were greatly relieved to hear that a retake was not necessary, as most of them were confessedly ready to take the count.

STRAND TODAY

Slow motion photography has been applied to certain scenes of Viola Dana's new Metro picture, "Glass Houses," now showing at the Strand Theater. The action so photographed is that of a Russian dance the star does. According to the director of the production, Harry Beaumont, this was the only satisfactory mechanical resource, for Miss Dana's movements during the number are so rapid that the regulation camera fails to record them suitably. So far as is known this is the first time in the history of the screen that this device has been utilized in the straight narrative of a story in motion pictures.

POLA NEGRI PLEASES AT THE LA CROSSE

Pola Negri was seen to excellent advantage in her new Paramount picture, "The Red Peacock," at the La Crosse Theater last night. This story which reminds one irresistibly of "Cunille," is one of exceptional dramatic force and one forgets the tragedy of the theme in one's admiration of the artistic portrayal of the role of the flower girl by Miss Negri.

The story of "The Red Peacock" is that of a frail young woman who, to escape her drunken step-father, enters the glided circle only to live a vicious existence in which love, sadness and ultimate tragedy find their finest artistic expression. The picture fascinates by its force, notably that of Miss Negri as Viollette, hold one as by a magic spell. Produced in Europe by Paul Stein, "The Red Peacock" is worthy of the attention of all screen lovers who wish to study the advance made by the cinema art in recent years.

RIVIERA SUNDAY

Mer-el-Hakj is one of the most famous actors in the cast of "Missing Husband," the spectacular French photoplay released by Metro, now showing at the Riviera Theater. His fame is only beginning to penetrate to the United States through the medium of the picture. It would have penetrated long ago had there been any interest here in camel racing.

CASINO TODAY

There can be no complaint on the score of no plot to "Across the Divide," the Playgoers feature starring Rex Ballard and Rosemary Thoby at the Casino Theater. It is the story of the devotion and sacrifice of a half-breed Indian for his white half-brother. The Indian is determined that their worthless, brutal father shall not ruin both their lives. A double romance enhances the picture's interest.

Just Like a Woman

A Fullerton man says he sets two eggs a day from a single hen. His plan is ingenious and might be worth trying on a larger scale, so we print it for the benefit of some of our suburban readers.

He has arranged a mirror opposite Biddy's nest, so that when she hops off and cackles she sees in the glass what she supposes is another hen cackling. This arouses her jealousy and not to be outdone by a supposed rival she jumps back on the nest and lays another egg.

SUNFLOWER SILAGE ALL RIGHT--IF THE COWS WILL EAT IT

Cannot Recommend it Says Expert at University Experiment Station

MADISON, Wis.—Sunflowers for silage may be satisfactory or may be unsatisfactory depending on the attitude of the cow who is supposed to eat them, experiments by the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture have shown.

In a bulletin Saturday, E. B. Holter of the agricultural experiment station says that "from the experiments with sunflowers for silage in Wisconsin and other corn belt states, we cannot recommend sunflowers in place of corn as a silage crop in southern Wisconsin or in other sections where corn matures sufficiently."

"Northern Wisconsin districts where difficulty is often experienced in raising corn, sunflowers give considerable promise and seem to furnish a more or less satisfactory substitute," the report said.

The cows at the experiment station were found to object to the sunflowers unless mixed with corn, while some northern Wisconsin cows had to be starved to make them eat the sunflowers, according to the bulletin. On the other hand it said that "western feeder states ate the same silage from the start."

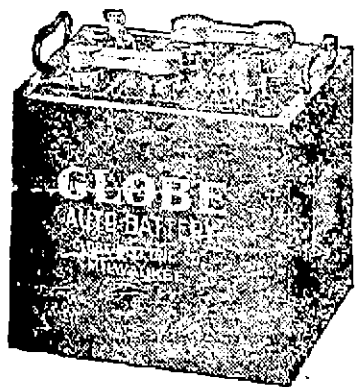

Trials are now in progress at the Ashland branch of the experiment station to determine how sunflowers compare with corn for silage, with oats and peas for silage and turkeys in furnishing economical, succulent feed for dairy cows in the winter in the Lake Superior district.

Only the Strong Survive

The Balkan peasant survives his lot to everyone better dressed than himself and gets his accent off the road for every passer-by that passes. He is a simple, honest, home-loving person with much homely virtue. The peasant women have enormous families of children, about half of whom survive the rigors of child life in the extreme conditions that prevail in the Balkans.

Featuring Lillian and Dorothy Gish

Yes, we dare to tell you that D. W. Griffith has at last made a picture greater than "The Birth of a Nation." Another masterpiece of Cinema art that will live forever. A play that will enthral you as never before. The power is in the marvelous old story—the world's greatest story of love and devotion—the mixture of girlish pathos with its tremendous background of crushing mob power.

SENSATIONAL ORIGINAL BAFFLING UNSEEN

SHUBERT VODVIL PROGRAM AT THE RIVIERA IS FINE

Biggest Bill of Season to be Shown at Local Playhouse Sunday

Five big headlines each one a feature in itself, will be the chief attraction at the Riviera Theatre, North La Crosse, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. This is positively and without exception the biggest and best assembly of acts ever presented at one time.

Olga Mishka and Company will offer "Poetry in Motion." Olga and Mishka are two dancing stars who specialize in the highest field of terpsichorean art. They have been the features of numerous musical shows, the last of note being "Tickle Me." Olga is a wisp of a girl who has been dancing from babyhood. Her partner is a Russian who graduated from the Imperial Ballet school in the days of Czars, and then came to the United States with Pavlova. This act comes direct from the Shubert Vaudeville circuit in the east where it has been meeting with wonderful success. John Alden, composer of the popular songs, "La Veeda," "Stars," etc., accompanies this talented and popular couple.

Donahue and Patrick, a fascinating pair, appear in "Odds and Ends." Music, talking and acrobatic dancing make this a charming and amusing act.

Billy Clifford, well known to vaudeville patrons, will entertain you with his clever line of chatter. A few moments with Billy Clifford, and one forgets there is such a word as "serious."

Bronston, Dorothy and Stone, an A No. 1 trio, will sing songs of yesterday and today. They are high class singers, putting their act over in a refined and artistic manner.

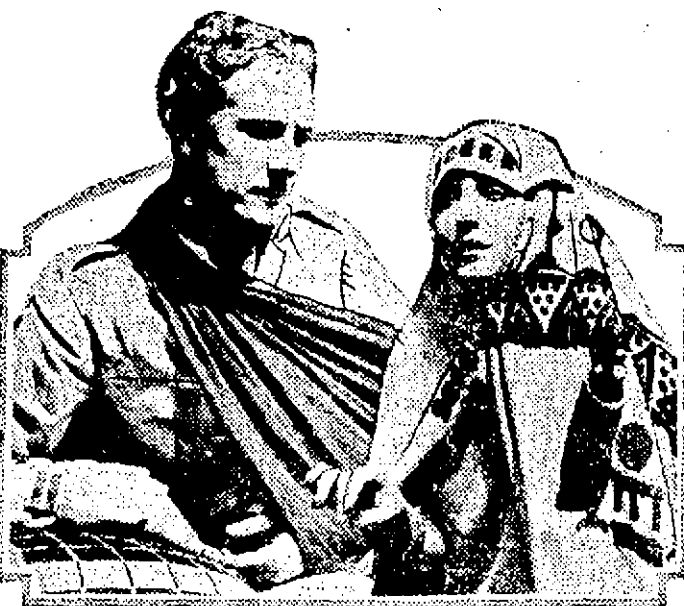

Dorothy Sherman's Cameo Revue is not to be classed merely as an act, but an event. Dainty, dashing and dazzling and gorgeous in every detail. Exquisite portraits, in a frame of music, song and dance, is the composition of this rare novelty. Five beautiful colored women make this the very best in the line of amusements.

The feature picture to be shown in conjunction with this vaudeville bill is "Missing Husbands," classed as the "biggest photograph of the year." It is the picture that made Paris gasp and was the sensation of all Europe.

FORGERIES OF RARE STAMPS

Forgeries of rare stamps are frequently found in collections. By taking the stamps of lesser values, the possibility of detection is not so great. The rewards in this case are smaller, but greater. Perhaps the most extensively forged of all stamps are those of South American countries which are on the market in great numbers. Used stamps are generally more valuable than unused ones. In a recent case, an unused stamp was placed upon an envelope of exactly the same period and the postmark cleverly faked and deception was caught by a dealer who saw that the address on the envelope had been written by a steel pen instead of a quill which was used at the time represented by the faked stamp issue.

AUTO NEWS AND GOSSIP

The roads are drying up. That is the best news of the week in automobile circles, and no festive turn-out—both long and short distances—is preparing to hit the trail with family, friends, bags and baggage. Secretary Seymour L. Meister of the La Crosse Auto club received gratifying reports on road conditions in Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, during the last few days. One could start out from La Crosse and drive to almost any city or village within a radius of 40 to 50 miles without striking impassable roads, he said yesterday.

Five Hundred Members
Officers of the Auto club anticipate that the organization will have 500 members inside of two weeks. Terms of obtaining new members have had splendid success and the enrollment had already passed the 200 mark. Autoists here have learned that the Auto club is engaged in a great many activities to improve road conditions and safeguard traffic, and it is no longer difficult to obtain members—in fact comparatively few refusals are encountered during the drive.

PRESIDENT'S WEEKLY LETTER
I want to say a few words to members of the Automobile Club and others about safety for yourself and safety for those you may come in contact with.

Last year there were over four thousand automobile accidents and injuries at railroad crossings. A railroad crossing is always a danger spot to the most careful driver and an extremely dangerous spot for a driver who is a bit careless or reckless, or one not thoroughly aroused to the necessity of using extreme caution in crossing railroad tracks.

There is only one absolutely safe way to cross a railroad track and he absolutely sure of not having an accident and that is to bring your car to almost a stop and shift into intermediate and keep the brakes until you have cleared the tracks for then you are always sure of having enough power to keep you from stalling. Stalling on railroad tracks has been the cause of a great many automobile accidents.

Look Both Ways
And don't forget to look both ways and listen for the sound of warning bell or engine whistle and don't proceed to cross the tracks until you are sure there is no train approaching. Be especially careful crossing double tracks as there may be a train moving in each direction. This holds true also of street car tracks.

This procedure may inconvenience you a little but it may save your life, and the lives of those who may be riding with you.

Most of us drive for pleasure, so why hurry and why take a chance and why try to beat the train to it. The speed of an approaching train is very deceptive—better give it the right of way.

What I have said would seem to be only just good, common sense practice, so let's all get the habit of practicing safety first, safety last and safety all the time, and which is certainly a duty we owe to ourselves, our families and to our fellow citizens.

Keep on the look out for warning signs everywhere and sound your horn when approaching sharp turns where the view is obstructed.

Warning Signs Up

The Club has already put up a number of warning signs and will carry the work further when our finances will permit, so make application for membership or send in your dues so we can extend the scope of our safety work. The Club is working.

The affairs of the Club are being conducted by an able and enthusiastic board of directors who are unselfishly devoting a lot of their valuable time without pay of any kind to securing better motoring conditions which will affect the welfare of all automobile owners so let's all go along with them and make the Automobile Club of Western Wisconsin second to none in the state, or any other state.

Let's all help to stop the slaughter of lives and the destruction of property and make motoring a real pleasure.

Make a resolution now to see Secretary Meister next week and by doing so lend your influence to a most worthy cause.

Our committees are all doing good work, but to Mr. Halmrast of the Standing Membership Committee, Coon Valley, Division No. 14, is due credit for sending in the first list of members—seven of them, together with his check for $23.00, and reports more to follow. Other divisions will have to look to their laurels. —Better Halmrast is sure a live wire —better "step on her" boys.

THE "EDGES" OF THE UNIVERSE

Astronomers in years gone by, as well as in our own times, contributed so much real and demonstrable knowledge to the sum of human information on that sublime science that it is well always to bear in mind the distinction between what has actually been discovered and proven and the purely speculative astronomy which is all that may be applied in studying the vast field of the universe of which our entire solar system as we know it is but a small component part. Still even in the light of all that has been accomplished in astronomical research, there is something very like a challenge to ridicule in an outgiving from the American Astronomy association's conference recently. If that outgiving is correctly reported, we are informed that it takes light, traveling at the rate of 186,000 miles a second, a period of 7,000,000 years to travel from one edge of the universe to the other. It is a great pity, having shown how far the edges are apart, not to have thrown upon other important data which are desired.

P. O. IMPROVEMENT WEEK IS OBSERVED STARTING MONDAY

A Few Suggestions are Given the Public to Expedite the Mail Service

May 1st to 5th has been designated as "Postal Improvement Week," and all over the U. S. A. thoughts are being given for its welfare.

We already have the best postal service of any country in the world, but still there is room for improvement, and a few suggestions for the public may be helpful.

A few don'ts:

Don't use large or small size envelopes; if too large, they don't fit in the boxes and have to be bent or worked separately, and if too small are apt to get lost or left in the boxes. Use a uniform business envelope.

Don't crowd out the state, making the first other place enough but the rest, at least in postage, as for instance there are a lot of U. S. citizens in different states, as Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, etc., and if you don't write to the state plainly your letter may go to the wrong state and be delayed indefinitely.

Don't use fancy writing with decorations on addresses. It takes time to decipher. Speed is the important factor in the mail service.

Don't mail a lot of mail at the mail cart—please put through the P. O. which has a cancelling machine, and can take care of it much better. Don't try to mail parcels weighing over five pounds at the mail cart—they don't take them.

A few do's:

Address your mail carefully and legibly. Wrap it securely. Be sure you have the correct postage thereon.

Mail early and often. Be sure your letters for registration are securely sealed.

If you have several letters to mail at one time please face all one way and secure with a rubber band or string.

(Signed),

A RAILWAY MAIL CLERK.

WILD SCENES OF REVELRY IN FRENCH REVOLUTION TAKEN BY GRIFFITH FROM HISTORY

Many persons to whom details of history are vague may see in the new D. W. Griffith photoplay, "Orphans of the Storm," a great dramatic epic, which is coming to the Rivoli Theater Monday for the rest of the week, certain scenes picturing events of the French revolution.

Like Imaginary Scenes

The scenes referred to are of so wild and frenzied a nature that the thought will project itself that exaggeration was exercised to the extreme as the dramatist's license. These incidents relating to the dancing of the Carmagnole are most likely so to be stamped and that these people pictured in violent, barbaric dances are merely introduced in such order to create quickened action.

Certainly, only the mind schooled in the events of those mad times, or the student of humanity informed of the limitless indulgences of mob passions, will realize that it is not a stretch of Mr. Griffith's imagination that caused him to direct his players' actions that they might be so pictured.

The scenes mentioned are concerned with perhaps the swiftest feature of the great revolution, the dance of the Carmagnole. Mr. Griffith pictures the mob in the heights of hysterical carousal, dancing through the streets in files of men and women cavorting like savages in the extreme of barbaric dance frenzy, leaping, whooping, laughing in a maniacal manner, horde on horde swooping through the streets without direction or apparent intent save to find space to direct their steps.

Actual History

Old and young eager in frantic abandon. The women, in their abandonment to the spirit of their wild emotions, had adopted a dress that matched barbaric impulse, forsaking all modesty. They thus yielded to the dominion and by example inspired a like unrestraint in the male comrades.

Surely, reason, the staid and thoughtfully rigorous of mind, there could never have been a whole people so touched with extreme demagoguery. But, if one reads Carlyle, that chronicler whose history of the French revolution is in esteem the most authoritative, Griffith has been extremely temperate in his direction of the Carmagnole dance as pictured. It was a revel such as only demagogic spirits could inspire. All that had previously been held sacred in mind of the populace, by a reversion

HOW "PUNCH" WAS NAMED

Almost everyone is familiar with the great English satirical publication "Punch." Who but upon the happy title to which "Punch" undoubtedly owes much of its early success? One story affirms that it was suggested by a brew of punch over which the founding of the journal was discussed, whilst Mark Lemon's name declared she remembered him, on seeing a Punch and Judy show in Trafalgar Square, suddenly exclaimed, "After it, be 'Punch'!" Lemon himself said, "It was called 'Punch' because it was short and sweet. Every one loves 'Punch.' All our ideas in connection with 'Punch' are happy ones."

On the Famous Super-Six Chassis

The substantial things that give leadership in the automobile field do not change.

Hudson's long leadership of fine car sales has always stood squarely on the question of value—a maturely developed car costing less than any car of like quality in the world.

Only a supreme advantage that others cannot use could account for such all-round dominance. Hudson has it in the Super-Six motor. It minimizes vibration and wear more than any type we know. It also increases power by 72% and efficiency by 80% over conventional motors of this size.

This extra ability in speed and power means driving at half load in ordinary motoring. It means absence of strain, thus much less mechanical deterioration. It means a wide range of flexibility and easy mastery of road and hill.

You, too, will surely find the appeal that has made it the largest selling fine car for more than six years.

Get a Baseball
Rule Book At
Tribune Office

Baseball opening for La Crosse fans is close at hand. Perhaps throughout the winter months you have become rusty on some of the rules and regulations which govern the game of baseball.

Perhaps there are some points of the game on which you are not exactly sure and would like to have cleared up in your own mind.

Perhaps there are a hundred and one other questions you would like to have answered but you have never been able to locate the proper authority.

The solution of this problem of the fan is simple. The La Crosse Tribune and Leader-Press is prepared to furnish gratis to fans a copy of Billy Evans' Simplified Rule Book.

The books will be issued through the sporting department and may be had by calling at the Tribune office. Come in and get your copy, one to each applicant.

Newsies Win from German Lutherans 18 to 17, in Tight Game

The T. N. T.'s, a basketball team composed of Tribune newsboys, won the city junior league championship by defeating the fast German Lutherans in a close game Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. The score at the end of the game was 18 to 17, a foul by Baum at the end of the game allowing Miller to score the winning point for his team.

The fighting spirit of both teams kept the final outcome of the game in doubt until the last whistle had blown. The splendid guarding of Zorn of the Lutherans kept the newsies from running up a much larger score, but he was unable to hold down Giv, the T. N. T. star, who scored 12 of the 18 points made by his team.

The German Lutherans defeated the All-Stars 26 to 18 in a preliminary game played at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 p. m. The Lutherans defeated their afternoon game to the T. N. T.'s.

Lineup: T. N. T. — Rick and Giv, forwards; Miller, center; Smith, Veneman and Peterson, guards.

German Lutherans — Baum and Witt, forwards; H. Ristow, center; Zorn and Stein, guards.

Referee—Josi.

YANKS ANNOUNCE
RELEASE OF BOBBY
ROTH ON SATURDAY

NEW YORK.—The New York Americans Saturday announced the unconditional release of Bobby Roth, outfielder, procured from Washington last year in a deal for pitcher George McQuinn and outfielder Duffy Lewis. Roth was indefinitely suspended at the New Orleans training camp of the Yankees for breaking training rules. Roth has played on every club in the American league with the exception of St. Louis and Detroit.

IN SATURDAY GAME

Schultz Holds Opponents to Two Hits in the First Game

The Normal school baseball team won its first game Saturday when they defeated the Trempealeau city team by the decisive score of 8 to 1 at the up-river town. Schultz, on the mound for the Normalites, allowed but two hits during the whole game.

Though the first game of the year, Nohr's men performed like veterans, playing a close game throughout. The few errors which were made were largely due to the tough condition of the playing field. "Lucky" Glasbrenner, center fielder, whose homer in the game last year was able to claim only one hit Saturday. The Trempealeau aggregation was on the lookout for him, playing deep. He drove out several long flies which ordinarily would have been hits, but they were fielded.

Stoneman, behind the bat, showed up well, as did Chinn at first. Johnson, Dean and Huseb performed.

WHISKY DRINKING IN WISCONSIN IS CUT DOWN HALF

Associate Federal Prohibition
Director Reaches Estimate
on Prescriptions Issued

Wisconsin is consuming 50 per cent less whisky this year than in 1921, it was estimated on Thursday by Edgar N. Read, associate federal prohibition director for the state. His estimate was based on the amount of whisky sold by druggists on prescription to the consumer for medicinal use.

In 1921 Wisconsin's 500 retail druggists sold 425,000 gallons of whisky, to be consumed as medicine. The estimate indicates that the druggists this year will drink not much more than 200,000 gallons, showing according to Mr. Read, a definite improvement in general health conditions. The reduction in liquor sales is due in a considerable measure to the fact that fewer fake and illegitimate prescriptions are in circulation, according to Mr. Read. Druggists have lately come under closer supervision, are more careful, their stock is more closely checked, there is less tendency for alleged breakage and loss by theft.

The latter statement admits the intimation that the number of illegitimate prescriptions last year, forged issued under fake names and otherwise illegally obtained, was large.

Read said druggists are exercising more care in issuing prescriptions, some not exhausting their limit of 100 prescriptions in ninety days. He said 25 per cent fewer prescriptions are being issued this year than last. The policy of the prohibition department, in keeping closer watch on druggists and doctors is given as influential in this regard.

Red Cross Liver Pills

Liver, Stomach, Bowel Troubles, Constipation, Gall-Stones, Appendicitis

They aid in preventing sickness by keeping the blood cool and lowering arterial tension. Excellent for liver, stomach, bowel troubles, gall-stones, dyspepsia, appendicitis, sick-headache, dropsy, poor circulation and constipation.

Their mild but wonderful laxative action cleanses the blood by natural means, overcoming the various ailments of the digestive system.

GRANT'S LETTER TO GEN. ROWLEY ON SHIPPING GOODS TO NEW HOME FOUND IN PRAIRIE DU CHIEN

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis. — A pleasant side light on the private life of Gen. U. S. Grant, whose centenary was observed on Thursday, is contained in a letter written by him to his old friend, Gen. Wm. Rowley of Galena, Illinois, during his residence in New York, after his retirement from the presidency.

The letter is a treasured possession of descendants of Gen. Rowley living in this city, and reads follows:

"New York City,
October 30, 1831.

"My Dear General:
"We are now pretty well settled in our new home. Everything is very comfortable and, with the different articles picked up in the trip around the world, we think very pretty. If you can come east at any time, come and see us and judge for yourself.

"But, with all we have in the house, Mrs. Grant wants sent on from Galena, by express, the handsome parlor books, and old brass bed, wooden sword rack, large black lacquer box, two Cloisonne blue plaques. If you know what that means, I do not. Two flower vases of silver bronze and cut glass, and any other handsome ornaments you may see. Please have the heavy things packed separately from the glass. Probably it will be well to get some one who understands the business to pack all these articles, so that they will come safely.

GEN. U. S. GRANT

"Tell Mr. Ryan to keep the buggy and harness for his use and when I go to Galena, I will take him out in it and show him more of his own country. The fact is, I fear my assessment for losses in this year's farming will amount to more than the buggy is worth and I want to get on the right side of him so he will not come back on me for any more.

"With kind regards to Mrs. and Miss Rowley, and all our Galena friends.

"Very truly yours,

"U. S. GRANT."

"P. S. Mrs. Grant says it is not an old bell but a beautifully carved bell from India. The lacquer box is in the parlor.

"U. S. G."

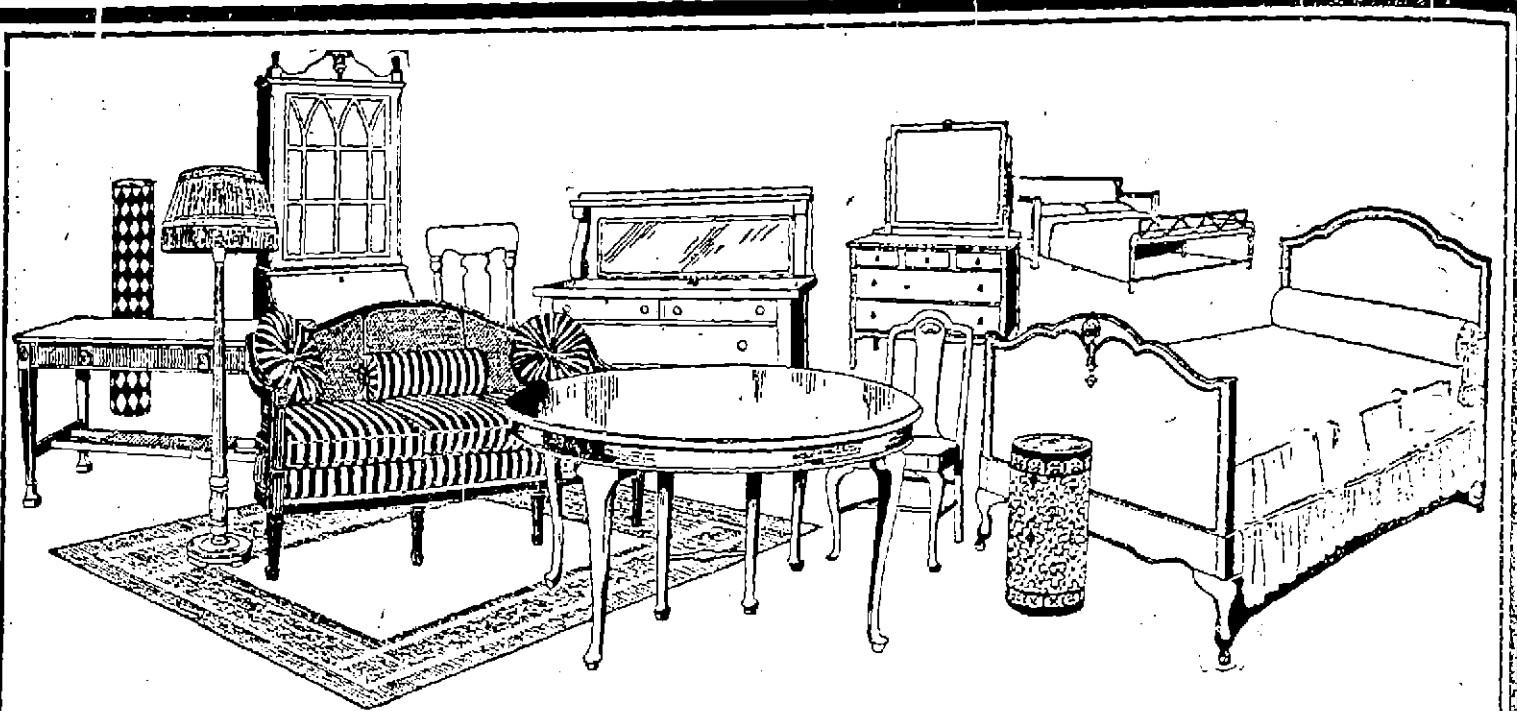

A watch presented to Gen. Rowley by Gen. Grant at the termination of their army comradeship and since his death, the property of Dr. A. G. Rowley of Middleton, Wisconsin, was stolen from a deposit box at the time of a bank robbery there in 1919, and was never recovered.

Gen. Grant was a frequent visitor to Prairie du Chien during the late 50's while associated with his brother in manufacturing leather in Galena. He came here to buy hides and to sell their leather, stopping at an old tavern still standing, and there is preserved here a billiard table on which he used to play with the officers stationed in Ft. Crawford.

His Punishment.
Mrs. Myles: "Every catch your husband flirts?"
Mrs. Styles: "Yes, often."
Mrs. Myles: "What did you do to him?"
Mrs. Styles: "Married him." —

"We'll Tell the World" that the NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

WE CONTINUE to handle the NASH because we are completely sold on its high quality. When we first took the agency several years ago, we did so because it looked like the best automobile buy on the market. Since then our mechanics have worked on hundreds of cars, from the lowest to the highest in price, and this experience has proved that our first judgment was good. We are more completely convinced than ever that THE NASH IS THE GREATEST DOLLAR-FOR-DOLLAR VALUE IN THE WORLD.

Beauty

With its new air-line body, lowered top, parking lamps and silvered outside door-handles, the new NASH delights the eye. It has that atmosphere of elegance, exclusiveness and good taste that is so desirable in an automobile. With this is combined a sturdy appearance that proclaims its durability.

Delco Lighting and Ignition

Delco electrical equipment throughout means thoroughly reliable ignition as well as certain and easy starting. Add to this a perfect lighting system, together with numerous refinements and conveniences in handling both the ignition and lighting systems and we present another substantial reason why you should buy the NASH.

New Springs

The new NASH springs are revolutionary in contrast to former spring construction. They consist of fifteen long, thin leaves—a rebound leaf that actually does the work of shock absorbing, a master leaf and thirteen flexible leaves. This means easier riding on all roads and increased gasoline mileage.

Latest Valve-In-Head Motor

The motor block used in the new NASH is made of the high grade material found only in the most expensive cars. Every day's turn-out is carefully tested for tensile strength, and a single weak spot sends the entire lot back to the smelter. An improved over-head valve and a four-ring piston rounds out this perfect motor.

You'll Not be Disappointed if You Order Your Nash Now

Indications point to a shortage of Nash Automobiles this season. When you see these wonder-cars you'll want one. We advise that you do your automobile shopping early and avoid the disappointment of late delivery.
